Ohio Parents Targets Of Delinquency Bill

Ohio Senate Approves Measure To Tighten Ma, Pa Responsibility

COLUMBUS (AP)—If your neighbor's youngster got in a jam recently, whose fault was it — the parents' of the child's?

The Ohio Senate voted 24-5 today for the measure and sent it to the House. The bill places blame on the parents. It allows every youngster one fall from grace. After that, things get tougher.

Parents of a child delinquent more than once could be charged with contempt of court. On top of that, parents of a child found guilty of a second delinquent act could be required to forfeit a $500 bond to pay for any damages caused by the child's vandalism.

The bond which a court could order forfeited would be posted when a child is placed on probation for his first act of delinquency.

The bill would apply to all parents except foster parents. It has the backing of the Juvenile Court Judges Assn. of Ohio, the Legislative Committee of the Ohio Assn. of Chiefs of Police and others.

* * *

HERE'S HOW the proposed law would work: If it appears at a child's delinquency hearing that his parents have failed to exercise "reasonable parental control" the court can order the parents to subject the child to such control in the future.

After that, any delinquent act by the child would present an open - and-shut case that the parents have violated the court order. This would open the parents to a contempt citation. Contempt may be punished by a jail term or a fine or both.

The Ohio House was treated Wednesday to a "slick salesman" demonstration to support a bill to curb misleading advertising.

After the demonstration by Reps. Dailey R. Turner (R-Seneca) and Robert F. Groneman (R-Hamilton), the House passed the bill 132-0 and sent it to the Senate.

The "pitch" by Turner and Groneman featured sewing machines and storm window models. They told how salesmen first show inferior merchandise, "blow it down" to the customers, then offer "better merchandise" at far higher prices.

TEAMSTER PRESIDENT Dave Beck takes his place at the Senate labor racketeering investigation in Washington with a big smile, but when asked for his financial records, he had a big "No." He invoked the fourth and fifth amendments.

UN Aide Detailing Findings in Egypt

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold returned to New York today for a busy round of conferences with diplomats anxious for news of his Middle East talks with Egyptian leaders.

Hammarskjold refused to answer newsmen's questions but read this brief statement to them:

"When I left New York on Tuesday of last week, I went to have informal exploratory talks. I have had such talks in Cairo and only in Cairo.

"My talks in Cairo reached a point at which I felt it would be better to return to New York to continue similar talks in the United Nations. I hope the talks in Cairo will prove helpful, and that the talks here will also be useful."

In Cairo, President Nasser's chief political aide, Wing Cmdt. Ali Sabry said that the Egyptian government "beleves Hammarskjold is convinced of the soundness" of Egypt's position on the Suez Canal. Sabry said Egypt would allow no foreign supervision whatsoever of the canal.

* * *

AIDES SAID one of Hammarskjold's first appointments would be with U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and that he would lunch with Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson and Norwegian Ambassador Hans Engen, both of whose nations are members of the secretary general's seven - nation Middle East Advisory Committee.

Hammarskjold was to meet with the full committee later. The other members are Brazil, Ceylon, Columbia, India and Pakistan.

Diplomatic sources in Cairo and Hammarskjold had reached an oral "gentlemen's agreement" with Nasser for U.N. Emergency Force troops to remain along the Gaza armistice line.

They said they believed the agreement included a promise from Nasser not to send Egyptian troops into the Gaza Strip immediately and to take no action regarding Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba.

One Egyptian source said UNEF troops were in Gaza "enjoying Egyptian hospitality" and emphasized that more formal arrangements will have to be reached regarding their status.

2 Explosions Rock Plant In Old Mexico

Second Jolt Comes As Curious Gather To See Ruins Of First

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Rescue workers dug through a wrecked block of rubble today seeking more victims of two explosions in a fireworks factory that left more than 100 Mexicans dead or injured. Police hunted the factory owner for questioning.

Eleven bodies—four of them firemen — had been recovered late Wednesday night. A hundred persons were hospitalized. Many were not expected to live.

Most of the casualties resulted from the second blast, which came as hundreds of curious neighbors watched firemen fighting the fire after the first explosion. Because it was lunchtime, the factory in a poor residential district apparently was empty.

Police said they wanted to question Antonio Joyas Chavez, owner of the factory. Officers said his adjoining warehouse was illegally filled with dynamite and other explosives.

The factory was less than a mile from Mexico City's International Airport and many windows in airport buildings were shattered.

* * *

THE SOUND of the two explosions could be heard over the noise of noonday traffic in the heart of the city five miles away.

Authorities gave this account:

Nicolas Lome Munoz, a watchman, saw smoke curling from the factory, located on the Mexico City-Puebla highway which passes the airport. He told his wife to call firemen and then tried to halt the spreading flames with buckets of water. The woman was unable to find a telephone.

The first explosion leveled the plant and damaging neary buildings. The blast killed the watchman, hurling his headless body 90 feet onto the highway.

Firemen from the airport rushed to the factory and sought to halt the racing flames. Hundreds of curious flocked to the scene and milled around watching.

Fifteen minutes later the warehouse exploded with a roar that could be heard for miles.

Four firemen, a policeman and five spectators were known to have died in the second blast. Ambulances and police converged on the area and began moving the injured to hospitals in relays.

The explosions left a crater nearly 100 feet long and 30 feet deep where the factory and warehouse had stood. Damage was estimated at $320,000.

Iran Troops Seek Killer-Kidnapers

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Government officials said today that troops had picked up a paper trail left by a pretty American woman kidnaped by bandit tribesmen who killed her husband and another U. S. official.

Government sources said they believed the band of nomads, about 12 in number, had kidnaped Mrs. Anita Huovar Carroll, 35, of Issaquah, Wash., to "sell her on the Arab coasts of the Persian Gulf and the Gulf of Oman."

More than 1,000 Iranian troops and police were reported closing in on the bandits fleeing across the Tangeorkheh Desert of southeastern Iran. There was some speculation they might be trying to escape into Pakistan.

Reports reaching the capital from the remote area said the search force had "found little pieces of paper thrown away by Mrs. Carroll as she was forcibly taken away." The reports said the hunters found the paper trail very useful in their pursuit.

* * *

THE DEAD Americans, according to Iranian officials, were Mrs. Carroll's husband, Kevin, 37, a Point Four area development adviser for Kerman, Iran, and Brewster A. Wilson, 35, of Portland, Ore., a regional specialist for the Near East Foundation and a contractor in Iran for the International Cooperation Administration.

Gen. Alinaghi Golpiri, police commander in chief, said 700 gendarmes, 400 soldiers, and about 100 camel-borne troops on direct orders from Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi were moving in on the bandits. These forces were converging in three columns from north, west and south through rugged desert country.

The Carrolls and Wilson were driving in a two-jeep party from Iranshahr to Port Chahbar, on the Gulf of Oman. They were ambushed by the bandits Sunday night near the village of Khash but held off their attackers for a time with pistol fire.

When the Americans' ammunition ran out, the bandits charged in, knifing Carroll, Wilson, and two Iranians in their party to death. No trace was found of Mrs. Carroll.

Children's Home Head Joins In Infirmary Talk

Koch Wants Mace To Give Details On Past Complaints

Win Koch, superintendent of the Pickaway County Children's Home, today asked that Chairman Harley Mace of the board of county commissioners "name dates and people" in connection with a remark made during the current study of the county infirmary.

The infirmary, located a short distance across Route 22 from the children's home, was recently the target for sharp criticism from the State Fire Marshal's office. A 60-day deadline has been set for repairs and improvements.

In expressing surprise at the fire marshal's criticism, Mace had pointed out the infirmary had undergone many inspections without complaint. And he added:

"It's true now and then, when those fellows came down each year, they had a complaint or two about the Children's Home, but we fixed them up without any trouble. But they never gave us one complaint—not a single one—about the infirmary."

* * *

AROUSED by the reference to the children's home, Koch has asked that Mace give more details on it. But the commission head pointed out last night that he cannot provide such information without checking back through county records.

Koch said he planned to see Mace early next week and ask for such a recheck of the records, if necessary.

Marion C. Darst Passes Away In Doylestown, Pa.

Former Circleville Resident Was 96; Well Known Artist

Miss Marion Curtis Darst died yesterday in Doylestown, Pa. She was a portrait artist and a well known resident of Circleville before she moved to Doylestown.

Death came at 7 p. m. Miss Darst was 96. She was the sister of the late Walter C. Darst, former publisher of The Herald. A nephew, Brower Murphy, of Charlotte, N. C., is the only survivor.

Miss Darst, who was known as "Bam" to her friends, lived in the house at 145 W. Mound St. during her years in Circleville. She moved to Doylestown in 1904.

She had studied art under well known painters in New York during her youth. Later she and another brother had a studio in New York.

* * *

DURING HER long life she painted many portraits of civic leaders and members of her family. Yet she was fond of saying that her work was "mostly of my girl friends."

"I never worked so much for money as for the pleasure I got from it," she said recently on her 96th birthday. "I didn't like to do steady work."

Nevertheless, she produced numerous portraits, many of which she sold, and she continued to paint until just two years ago.

The funeral will be held Friday in Doylestown.

Expert Doubts Medical Lab Test Quality

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A high percentage of certain laboratory tests on your health are wrong or not good enough, a doctor declared here today.

The test results partly and sometimes vitally influence the treatment your doctor then gives, said Dr. Lewis Smith, a pathologist from Dallas, Tex.

The main reason for poor tests is very low pay usually given medical technologists — the doctor's helpers who run the vital laboratory tests, Dr. Smith told the American Academy of General Practice.

He said too many are paid less than secretaries or typists. The result is to few good technologists and insufficient training.

Dr. Smith declared erroneous or not-too-accurate laboratory reports "can be responsible for a major number of prolongations of illness and some deaths."

Dr. Smith said the critical factor is always human error. He said the remedy is better pay and better training of medical technologists.

Tobacco Farmers Get Less Than Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tax collector got nearly twice as from tobacco products last as did the farmer.

Agriculture Department report on the tobacco situation said federal and state agencies collected $2.8 billion on cigarettes and other tobacco products in 1956. Farmers, on the other hand, got $1.1 billion for last year's tobacco crop.

The department said tax receipts were up 4 per cent last year but that farm returns from tobacco were down 6 per cent.

British Chief, Aides Ponder Big Walkout

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan summoned his Cabinet today to discuss two major strikes threatening Britain's hard - won economic recovery.

Employers and the striking unions meanwhile squared off for what looked like a prolonged slugging match, but the employers were still meeting to decide whether to negotiate directly with strike leaders.

The Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions went ahead with plans to call out another 500,000 engineering workers on Saturday from London area factories producing aircraft, machine tools, and electrical and atomic equipment.

A million men already are out in the engineering workers' strike and the union threatens to call out another 1½ million by April 6, closing down 4,300 plants which turn out 40 per cent of exports.

Bidinger Ready To Start New Garbage Setup

George Bidinger, who holds an exclusive contract to operate a new garbage-rubbish collection and disposal system in Circleville, said today he is prepared "to start carrying out my end of the contract Monday."

The new setup, which has stirred heated protests from independent haulers now doing business in the city, is scheduled to go into operation no later than April 1. The independents, supported by many of their customers, insist they will not stop their own hauling despite Bidinger's exclusive rights under city ordinance.

Bidinger has declined throughout to join in the public controversy over the new ordinance. "I've been hired by the city to do a job," he explained. "That's all I know about it."

Bidinger said he will have two trucks ready Monday to begin full operation of the new system. Residents and business people who wish to participate in the city's new system have been asked to phone 420.

On Monday, Bidinger said, the new dump he will supervise will be ready. It is located on the Buskirk property on the Canal Road west of Circleville.

President Eisenhower must sign the bill into the law by Sunday or the rates on corporation income and excise taxes will drop automatically Monday.

Dogless Girl Finds Way To Assure Pets

DETROIT (AP)—A little, blue-eyed blonde of 12 just loved dogs. But her parents wouldn't permit her to own one.

The little girl had lots of friends who liked dogs. Their parents didn't mind, but they just didn't have any.

One after another seven of them became dog owners. Six got Miniature French Poodles, the kind the 12-year-old "just adored." The other got a German Shepherd. All were registered stock.

Wherever the little 12-year-old went she could play with a friend's dog.

That was part of the story police unraveled from a roll of $20 bills that fell out of the 12-year-old's jacket as she romped with a friend's dog. The friend's mother became suspicious.

Police also found that the 12-year-old's father didn't believe in banks just as he didn't in dogs, that he kept his savings in a closet strongbox, and that the little girl had chanced upon the hidden strongbox keys.

The strongbox financed taxi trips to kennels and purchase of $1,095 worth of dogs, with which a little, blue-eyed blonde of 12 dearly loved to romp — at the homes of friends.

Senate Eyes $1½ Billion In Water Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate resumed consideration today of a $1½ billion water projects authorization bill against a back-drop of criticism by President Eisenhower at the way Congress sometimes authorizes such public work projects.

Before the Senate was a bill by its Public Works Committee to authorize future appropriations totaling $1½ billion for construction of 105 flood control, navigation, hydroelectric and beach erosion projects.

Included are navigational aid projects for Ohio totaling an estimated $13½ million. They are: Ohio River near Gallipolis $66,000, Mahoning River $12,585,000, and Toledo Harbor $859,000.

Editor Says Ike May Resign Job

NEW YORK (AP)—Louis Selzter, editor of the Cleveland Press, says he wouldn't be surprised if President Eisenhower quits in the middle of his term.

"If it should happen," he told the New York chapter of the Public Relations Society of America Wednesday, "then for two years it would give Richard Nixon an opportunity to demonstrate what he is capable of doing."

If the President does complete his term, Seltzer said, "I am not persuaded that Dick Nixon can without any difficulty get the 1960 nomination."

Farm Housewives Remain Thrifty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says the nation's farms still are rich with thrifty housewives.

Surveys show, it says, that nearly all farm families continue home canning of fruits and vegetables despite the availability of quick frozen foods of these kinds at grocery stores. It estimates that 40 to 50 per cent of city homemakers do some canning.

House Drives For Deep Cuts In Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House drive to cut an estimated $200 million from new appropriations asked for the Labor and Welfare Departments moved into its final stages today.

A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats showed no signs of weakening in their effort. In the last two days, they have persuaded the House to cut $14,408,100 from the amounts recommended by its Appropriations Committee.

The committee already had chopped $118 million from President Eisenhower's requests for $2,862,502,881 to finance the two big departments and several minor agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The House cuts, voted over the opposition of many committee members, were designed to hold 1958 appropriations generally to their 1957 levels by denying funds for personnel expansion.

2 Brothers Live 6½ Months In Huckleberry Finn Style

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — While their parents thought they were in school every day, two young boys lived a Huckleberry Finn life for 6½ months "exploring and sittin' and watching the sky."

The heaven they built for themselves at their "secret" cave was shattered Wednesday and they were enrolled in school today.

Police discovered Ora Lee Linville, 14, and his brother, Jerry, 13, sitting beside a cheery camp fire in their cave Wednesday morning. The cave, located in a creek bank near Southeast High School, was near a playground.

"We spent the mornings exploring," Ora said. "Then we'd build a camp fire and eat lunch. In the afternoons we'd just sit and watch the sky or the creek until school was out and then we'd go back home."

Their mother thought the boys had enrolled in school last September. They admitted it was a touch-and - go situation keeping mom and dad fooled.

"When mother asked for our report cards we told her we had lost them or that the school wouldn't give them to us until we paid a fee," Ora Lee said. The family moved here recently from Chickasha, Okla., and weren't familiar with the grade card system.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Linville, said the first time they knew the boys had not been at school was when a police car brought them home.

"Dad gave us a pretty hard talking to when he found out about it," Ora said.

Both boys agreed there was one bright spot in their future: In only two more months, it will be vacation time.

"My talks in Cairo reached a point at which I felt it would be better to return to New York to continue similar talks in the United Nations. I hope the talks in Cairo will prove helpful, and that the talks here will also be useful."

Hammarskjold was to meet with the full committee later. The other members are Brazil, Ceylon, Columbia, India and Pakistan.

Diplomatic sources in Cairo and Hammarskjold had reached an oral "gentlemen's agreement" with Nasser for U.N. Emergency Force troops to remain along the Gaza armistice line.

They said they believed the agreement included a promise from Nasser not to send Egyptian troops into the Gaza Strip immediately and to take no action regarding Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba.

One Egyptian source said UNEF troops were in Gaza "enjoying Egyptian hospitality" and emphasized that more formal arrangements will have to be reached regarding their status.

Dogless Girl Finds Way To Assure Pets

DETROIT (AP)—A little, blue-eyed blonde of 12 just loved dogs. But her parents wouldn't permit her to own one.

The little girl had lots of friends who liked dogs. Their parents didn't mind, but they just didn't have any.

One after another seven of them became dog owners. Six got Miniature French Poodles, the kind the 12-year-old "just adored." The other got a German Shepherd. All were registered stock.

Wherever the little 12-year-old went she could play with a friend's dog.

That was part of the story police unraveled from a roll of $20 bills that fell out of the 12-year-old's jacket as she romped with a friend's dog. The friend's mother became suspicious.

Police also found that the 12-year-old's father didn't believe in banks just as he didn't in dogs, that he kept his savings in a closet strongbox, and that the little girl had chanced upon the hidden strongbox keys.

The strongbox financed taxi trips to kennels and purchase of $1,095 worth of dogs, with which a little, blue-eyed blonde of 12 dearly loved to romp — at the homes of friends.

She had been living with her son Fremont Amory, an architect, in his Manhattan apartment.

At first the frail mother denied her son had beaten her during an argument. Later, however, she told police: "I wanted to protect him. I didn't want him to be hurt."

Children's Home Head Joins In Infirmary Talk

Koch Wants Mace To Give Details On Past Complaints

Win Koch, superintendent of the Pickaway County Children's Home, today asked that Chairman Harley Mace of the board of county commissioners "name dates and people" in connection with a remark made during the current study of the county infirmary.

The infirmary, located a short distance across Route 22 from the children's home, was recently the target for sharp criticism from the State Fire Marshal's office. A 60-day deadline has been set for repairs and improvements.

In expressing surprise at the fire marshal's criticism, Mace had pointed out the infirmary had undergone many inspections without complaint. And he added:

"It's true now and then, when those fellows came down each year, they had a complaint or two about the Children's Home, but we fixed them up without any trouble. But they never gave us one complaint—not a single one—about the infirmary."

* * *

AROUSED by the reference to the children's home, Koch has asked that Mace give more details on it. But the commission head pointed out last night that he cannot provide such information without checking back through county records.

Koch said he planned to see Mace early next week and ask for such a recheck of the records, if necessary.

Included are navigational aid projects for Ohio totaling an estimated $13½ million. They are: Ohio River near Gallipolis $66,000, Mahoning River $12,585,000, and Toledo Harbor $859,000.

2 Explosions Rock Plant In Old Mexico

Second Jolt Comes As Curious Gather To See Ruins Of First

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Rescue workers dug through a wrecked block of rubble today seeking more victims of two explosions in a fireworks factory that left more than 100 Mexicans dead or injured. Police hunted the factory owner for questioning.

Eleven bodies—four of them firemen — had been recovered late Wednesday night. A hundred persons were hospitalized. Many were not expected to live.

Most of the casualties resulted from the second blast, which came as hundreds of curious neighbors watched firemen fighting the fire after the first explosion. Because it was lunchtime, the factory in a poor residential district apparently was empty.

Police said they wanted to question Antonio Joyas Chavez, owner of the factory. Officers said his adjoining warehouse was illegally filled with dynamite and other explosives.

The factory was less than a mile from Mexico City's International Airport and many windows in airport buildings were shattered.

* * *

THE SOUND of the two explosions could be heard over the noise of noonday traffic in the heart of the city five miles away.

Authorities gave this account:

Nicolas Lome Munoz, a watchman, saw smoke curling from the factory, located on the Mexico City-Puebla highway which passes the airport. He told his wife to call firemen and then tried to halt the spreading flames with buckets of water. The woman was unable to find a telephone.

The first explosion leveled the plant and damaging neary buildings. The blast killed the watchman, hurling his headless body 90 feet onto the highway.

Firemen from the airport rushed to the factory and sought to halt the racing flames. Hundreds of curious flocked to the scene and milled around watching.

Fifteen minutes later the warehouse exploded with a roar that could be heard for miles.

Four firemen, a policeman and five spectators were known to have died in the second blast. Ambulances and police converged on the area and began moving the injured to hospitals in relays.

The explosions left a crater nearly 100 feet long and 30 feet deep where the factory and warehouse had stood. Damage was estimated at $320,000.

Quakers Told U.S. Indians Need Aid

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A Quaker convention was told today there should be a "Point Four" program for the American Indian.

That statement was made in a report by the Friends Quaker national committee on legislation to the 277th Philadelphia yearly meeting of Friends. The report said in part:

Iran Troops Seek Killer-Kidnapers

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Government officials said today that troops had picked up a paper trail left by a pretty American woman kidnaped by bandit tribesmen who killed her husband and another U. S. official.

Government sources said they believed the band of nomads, about 12 in number, had kidnaped Mrs. Anita Huovar Carroll, 35, of Issaquah, Wash., to "sell her on the Arab coasts of the Persian Gulf and the Gulf of Oman."

More than 1,000 Iranian troops and police were reported closing in on the bandits fleeing across the Tangeorkheh Desert of southeastern Iran. There was some speculation they might be trying to escape into Pakistan.

Reports reaching the capital from the remote area said the search force had "found little pieces of paper thrown away by Mrs. Carroll as she was forcibly taken away." The reports said the hunters found the paper trail very useful in their pursuit.

* * *

THE DEAD Americans, according to Iranian officials, were Mrs. Carroll's husband, Kevin, 37, a Point Four area development adviser for Kerman, Iran, and Brewster A. Wilson, 35, of Portland, Ore., a regional specialist for the Near East Foundation and a contractor in Iran for the International Cooperation Administration.

Gen. Alinaghi Golpiri, police commander in chief, said 700 gendarmes, 400 soldiers, and about 100 camel-borne troops on direct orders from Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi were moving in on the bandits. These forces were converging in three columns from north, west and south through rugged desert country.

The Carrolls and Wilson were driving in a two-jeep party from Iranshahr to Port Chahbar, on the Gulf of Oman. They were ambushed by the bandits Sunday night near the village of Khash but held off their attackers for a time with pistol fire.

When the Americans' ammunition ran out, the bandits charged in, knifing Carroll, Wilson, and two Iranians in their party to death. No trace was found of Mrs. Carroll.

Marion C. Darst Passes Away In Doylestown, Pa.

Former Circleville Resident Was 96; Well Known Artist

Miss Marion Curtis Darst died yesterday in Doylestown, Pa. She was a portrait artist and a well known resident of Circleville before she moved to Doylestown.

Death came at 7 p. m. Miss Darst was 96. She was the sister of the late Walter C. Darst, former publisher of The Herald. A nephew, Brower Murphy, of Charlotte, N. C., is the only survivor.

Miss Darst, who was known as "Bam" to her friends, lived in the house at 145 W. Mound St. during her years in Circleville. She moved to Doylestown in 1904.

She had studied art under well known painters in New York during her youth. Later she and another brother had a studio in New York.

* * *

DURING HER long life she painted many portraits of civic leaders and members of her family. Yet she was fond of saying that her work was "mostly of my girl friends."

"I never worked so much for money as for the pleasure I got from it," she said recently on her 96th birthday. "I didn't like to do steady work."

Nevertheless, she produced numerous portraits, many of which she sold, and she continued to paint until just two years ago.

The funeral will be held Friday in Doylestown.

Expert Doubts Medical Lab Test Quality

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A high percentage of certain laboratory tests on your health are wrong or not good enough, a doctor declared here today.

The test results partly and sometimes vitally influence the treatment your doctor then gives, said Dr. Lewis Smith, a pathologist from Dallas, Tex.

The main reason for poor tests is very low pay usually given medical technologists — the doctor's helpers who run the vital laboratory tests, Dr. Smith told the American Academy of General Practice.

He said too many are paid less than secretaries or typists. The result is to few good technologists and insufficient training.

Dr. Smith declared erroneous or not-too-accurate laboratory reports "can be responsible for a major number of prolongations of illness and some deaths."

Dr. Smith said the critical factor is always human error. He said the remedy is better pay and better training of medical technologists.

Editor Says Ike May Resign Job

NEW YORK (AP)—Louis Selzter, editor of the Cleveland Press, says he wouldn't be surprised if President Eisenhower quits in the middle of his term.

"If it should happen," he told the New York chapter of the Public Relations Society of America Wednesday, "then for two years it would give Richard Nixon an opportunity to demonstrate what he is capable of doing."

If the President does complete his term, Seltzer said, "I am not persuaded that Dick Nixon can without any difficulty get the 1960 nomination."

2 Brothers Live 6½ Months In Huckleberry Finn Style

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — While their parents thought they were in school every day, two young boys lived a Huckleberry Finn life for 6½ months "exploring and sittin' and watching the sky."

The heaven they built for themselves at their "secret" cave was shattered Wednesday and they were enrolled in school today.

Police discovered Ora Lee Linville, 14, and his brother, Jerry, 13, sitting beside a cheery camp fire in their cave Wednesday morning. The cave, located in a creek bank near Southeast High School, was near a playground.

"We spent the mornings exploring," Ora said. "Then we'd build a camp fire and eat lunch. In the afternoons we'd just sit and watch the sky or the creek until school was out and then we'd go back home."

Their mother thought the boys had enrolled in school last September. They admitted it was a touch-and - go situation keeping mom and dad fooled.

"When mother asked for our report cards we told her we had lost them or that the school wouldn't give them to us until we paid a fee," Ora Lee said. The family moved here recently from Chickasha, Okla., and weren't familiar with the grade card system.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Linville, said the first time they knew the boys had not been at school was when a police car brought them home.

"Dad gave us a pretty hard talking to when he found out about it," Ora said.

Both boys agreed there was one bright spot in their future: In only two more months, it will be vacation time.

Ingrid Bergman, Yul Brynner Win Moviedom's Top Oscars

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ingrid Bergman, exiled from Hollywood eight years ago amid scorn and scandal, said today that she is "delighted" that the movie industry has given her its highest honor.

The 42-year-old Swedish star won the Academy Oscar at its 29th annual awards presentation Wednesday night. The gold award was for her portrayal of the bewildered pretender princess in "Anastasia."

Yul Brynner won the top-actor award for "The King and I" and "Around the World in 80 Days" was acclaimed the best picture of 1956.

Winners of supporting - player awards were Dorothy Malone, as a sexy Texan heiress in "Written on the Wind," and Anthony Quinn, as eccentric artist Gauguin of "Lust for Life."

Ingrid was the wife of a Beverly Hills surgeon and the mother of his daughter when she went to Italy and became the mother of a child by Italian Director Roberto Rossellini. She later married him.

"Anastasia," which marked her return to American films, had a European locale.

George Stevens received the best-director award for his sweeping portrayal of a Texas oil family in "Giant."

Dynamic producer Mike Todd, accepted the best-picture award for "Around the World in 80 Days," his first picture.

The most awards went to "The King and I." Beside Brynner's, it scored in five minor categories. Next was "Around the World in 80 Days," with five Oscars.

A surprise winner was the song "Que Sera, Sera (Whatever Will Be, Will Be)", written by Ray Evans and Jay Livingston.

FBI Joins Here In Search For Missing Pair

City police disclosed today that the Federal Bureau of Investigation has been called in on the investigation of the disappearance of Florence Reaugh, 15, of 233 N. Scioto St.

The young girl was last seen here the morning of March 10 when she went for a ride with Samuel (Chic) Collets, a traveling photographer, who was temporarily residing at 233½ N. Scioto St. Collets also has not been seen since that date, police said.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Alverna Ellis, was questioned closely yesterday by an agent of the FBI field office in Chillicothe.

Mrs. Ellis had filed an affidavit earlier in Municipal Court, charging that Collets had kidnaped her daughter.

COLLETS' employers, a Tennessee photography firm, told city prosecutor William Ammer that they have been able to trace him as far as a Covington, Ky., hotel, but have no clues to his further whereabouts.

Mrs. Ellis, her daughter, and a son, 14, came to Circleville about a month ago after hitchhiking from Pennsylvania. Police say that the three obtained help from the local Salvation Army after Mrs. Ellis was refused relief and tried unsuccessfully to find work here.

Childhood Sweethearts

Divorced in 1907, Couple Remarries

AKRON (AP)—A half century after their first marriage was broken up, Daisy Eye, 82, and Chester Innskeep, 80, are again bride and groom.

They were married Wednesday night at the home of their daughter, and they're going back to Delavan, Ill., where they were once childhood sweethearts.

It was there they parted because of a family feud in the spring of 1907—parted to remain completely out of touch, to remarry and to live their separate lives until six weeks ago.

On Feb. 12 Mrs. Eye told her daughter, Mrs. Robert Thompson: "I got a letter today that shook me all up."

The letter was from Innskeep. He had learned her whereabouts from a friend in Delavan who was employed at the courthouse. The friend told Inskeep he'd seen a letter Mrs. Eye wrote about some property she owned in Delavan.

"Answer it, mother," advised the daughter, who was only two weeks old when her father last had seen her. And the mother did.

The result was a reunion at the Cleveland Airport two weeks ago and Innskeep's marriage "to that old gal of mine," with the Rev. Paul Kerschner of the First Congregational Church retying the knot.

The ceremony was the third for both octogenarians. After the 1907 separation, Innskeep stayed in Delavan and married another woman, now dead. His divorced wife went to New York, remarried, then moved near here where her husband died 17 years ago.

At the apartment of their daughter, where they will remain for a few weeks before moving back to Delavan, the bride said she didn't "want a honeymoon trip." She said she just wants to be with Chester again, adding:

"We never had a cross word or altercation in our lives, in spite of the fact we were divorced. Feuds between our families did that. We grew up within six miles of each other, went to school and church together, went buggy-riding and skating."

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Six months ago I lost the most precious possession a woman ever had—a wonderful husband.

Some of my friends, for whom I actually knocked myself out when they had lost dear ones, were completely indifferent and even failed to call to pay respects—some sending flowers, others not even that.

But now they telephone to invite me to join them, and expect me to forget their rudeness and selfishness.

I won't go into all I've done for some of these women, but I know that I have been a darn fool, because I am sympathetic, kind-hearted and just a sap. I am bitter about these people.

R.R.

DEAR R. R.: The story you tell doesn't quite hang together. The kind of characters who would neglect a friend (so-called) who'd just lost her husband, would hardly bother to pursue her with invitations later—since even good-hearted people sometimes find it difficult to fit a widow into their social life.

So I wonder just who are these folks you're bitter about?

One thing sure, if you had any friends, you wouldn't be so wrought-up at discovering how few they are.

It is the frustrated soul, who has no companions, no camaraderie, no means of sharing, who nurses a chronic grudge against people he knows. And the individual without friends is a person not friendly at heart.

The gist of your grievance suggests that you aren't very well oriented towards making friends—and that you've probably been more aggressive than altruistic in your efforts to cultivate those persons who've let you down.

The problem I see is your bitterness—not the selfishness of other people. To recover balance, you must learn to love; and for help in this, you might read: "The Art of Loving" (Harpers) by Erich Fromm.

M. H.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a widow and think a lot of a man who has been a widower for several years. He always speaks to me in a confidential way about his future plans, regarding marriage.

Would it be proper for me to invite him to call? I am rather shy and a good listener, but haven't given him any encouragement.

F. Y.

DEAR F.Y.: If you are shy, stick to your type, to maintain your attractiveness. Let the man take the initiative in asking for a date, or asking to call. Better be warmly encouraging, than risk loss of dignity by being aggressive.

However, if you should happen to get included in some social event that calls for an extra man, say an evening of cards with friends; or a church supper, you might inquire if he'd like to go. This is a proper lady-like overture.

Delinquency Boom Seen By Professor

MIDDLETOWN (AP) — Prof. Walter C. Reckless of Ohio State University, says he thinks juvenile delinquency "is going to increase a great deal more."

The OSU sociologist told a parent-teacher group here that youths with a good insulation to delinquency are those who believe they have good homes and families, and are sure they will not enter a life of crime.

Onetime Rich Arms-Maker Dies Broke

NEW YORK (AP) — Murray Garsson, 68, onetime millionaire munitions manufacturer sent to prison for war contract frauds, died Tuesday night — broke and homeless.

Garsson died in Bellevue Hospital, it was disclosed today by his physician, Dr. Emanuel M. Josephson. Garsson had been sleeping in Dr. Josephson's offices after eviction from a hotel.

"I let him use my reception room for three weeks because he was broke," said Dr. Josephson.

An autopsy showed he died of a brain hemorrhage apparently brought on by an injury suffered in a fall downstairs. He had been brought to the hospital unconscious on March 8 and remained in a coma until his death.

Dr. Josephson said Garsson was found lying at the foot of steps outside the building where the doctor has his offices and residence about 2 a. m. on March 7.

Dr. Josephson said Garsson was conscious when found at the bottom of the stairs and related that he "had fallen down."

Garsson had been convicted with Rep. Andrew May, Kentucky Democrat, on charges of bribery and conspiracy in connection with obtaining war contracts.

He was sentenced in 1949 to eight months to two years in prison, and was released in 1951.

May received a similar sentence and was released in 1950.

Garsson's brother, Henry, also went to prison in the case.

The brothers were convicted of giving Rep. May $53,634 in bribes to use his influence as chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee to help them get war contracts. Henry Garsson also was released from prison in 1951.

Uniform Traffic Law Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A highway safety spokesman has urged federal legislation to require uniform traffic laws in every state.

Irvin S. Markel of Richmond, Va., told the Special House Subcommittee on traffic safety:

"I recommend legislation giving the federal government power to withhold funds under the new highway construction program from any state which fails to adhere quickly to uniform laws set up by the proper executive body."

"A sound, uniform program of legislation, rigidly enforced," Markel added, "will positively cause a tremendous cut in our accident rate."

Budding Alcoholics Said Needing Help

CHICAGO (AP)—A welfare official has proposed that a system be worked out for finding and treating budding alcoholics before they lose jobs and break up homes.

Henry L. McCarthy, New York City's commissioner of welfare, said there is a "whole unexplored area of possible service and treatment for the alcoholic who is headed for bottom."

McCarthy suggested that one method of automatic case-finding would be to create organized facilities to which the alcoholic's friends, relatives, physician or clergy could refer him if their efforts failed.

Army, Worried Over Fatties, Favors Bikes for Errands

Specialist Third Class Raymond R. Hanson, Jr., of Galveston, Tex., discharges his 10th Infantry Division PIO duties at Wuerzburg, West Germany, on a bicycle.

Frankfurt, West Germany — The United States Army in Europe has found a definite niche for the bicycle in today's push-button fighting forces—to slim down and toughen up its fatties.

The Army, after taking a look around, has listened to the admonition of President Eisenhower and Dr. Paul Dudley White. Dr. White, the noted Boston heart specialist who attended the President, says the bicycle is the best anti-heart disease medicine available.

The President, alarmed by the softness of American youth contrasted with European youth, is trying to take the rock-and-roll set out of their souped-up jalopies and put them on bikes.

In Europe, the U. S. Army is curtailing the official use of cars in favor of bicycles. There are a lot of errands, the Army has found, that can be handled as easily with a bike as a car.

* * *

ECONOMY IS A MOTIVE, but the Army's real worry is its overpadded warriors who man the Iron Curtain front line. They are history's best-fed soldiers — and they look it. Most non-commissioned officers, the Army complains, belong in a dietary chamber of horrors. Dieting has become mandatory for the worst cases.

The high protein-low calorie diet, built around eggs, now is a standard feature on every Army menu. Soldiers on diets tend, however, to react just like buxom matrons who try dieting. By the exercise of enormous will power they manage to stagger through the diet and lose the prescribed poundage.

However, once off the diet, they gain back — and fast — all the poundage lost. The reason: lack of exercise. Today's "foot" soldier rides or, more likely, sits behind a desk.

Off-duty, the soldier instinctively shuns exercise. The U. S. forces register 50,000 privately-owned motor vehicles, and operating a car on 16-cent-a-gallon Army gasoline makes driving too cheap to walk.

Gasoline rationing in Britain has given the military's back-to-bicycles program a boost. The Army is meeting with substantial success, also, in glamorizing cycling.

Every military exchange stocks fancy, foreign-made bikes. Cycling is pictured as romantic and the best way to get to know the countryside.

* * *

IN THE UNITED STATES it is considered declasse for an adult to pump a bicycle, but in Europe it is the common mode of transportation. The Army hammers away at this point in its orientation briefings.

European roads also favor the Army's bike slenderizing campaign. Secondary roads hardly will take a big American car.

United States airmen in Britain are the Army's glowing example for its personnel in Germany, France and Italy. The airmen have become almost as enthusiastic on the subject as Dr. White, himself an ardent cycling fan.

Many USAF bases in Britain are sprawling and remote from public transportation. Airman Third Class Roy R. Bonavito explained, "The nearest town to my base at Burtonwood is Warrington, seven miles away. I found I could get where I want to go faster on a bicycle than waiting for a bus.

"After 11 at night there are no buses. Most guys either take a cab or walk. I just hop on my bike and take off."

Staff Sgt. William F. Mahaffey, at Sculthorpe, says he took up cycling on the recommendation of the President and Dr. White, and finds it a dream.

"I picked up my bicycle simply for exercise. I found that when I don't get enough exercise, I begin to feel sluggish and out of shape," he says.

"I haven't dropped any excess fat, but I feel better mentally."

Savings Bonds Report Is Issued

The Ohio Savings Bonds Division today announced that February sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds totaled $21½ million, with sales in Pickaway County reaching $44,342.

"Since the increase in interest rate and other improvements in the Series E and H Savings Bonds will apply to all bonds issued since February 1, 1957," pointed out the County Savings Bonds Chairman, Judge William D. Radcliff, "no one need delay purchasing bonds until all details are finally approved. Once people are aware that these improvements apply to E and H Bonds purchased now, the Treasury is confident that sales will materially improve."

Leading the state in percentage of sales attainment are Gallia, Jackson, Monroe and Meigs counties.

Liberal Education's Vital Role

With heavy emphasis on technical skills in current school curriculums, many educators are becoming fearful lest academic pursuits become lost in the shuffle.

It is undoubtedly true that most labor shortages today are in the technical fields such as engineering, science and skilled labor, and the nation's schools are re-evaluating their training to emphasize these vocations. But to produce a well-rounded personality, specialization in one subject is not sufficient. It is to fill this gap that the liberal arts colleges offer their services.

Liberal arts courses, in themselves, do not prepare the individual for earning a livelihood. It is not their purpose. Instead, the study of languages, history, literature and related subjects gives the student the necessary additives to lead a more interesting, intelligent life.

Primary education — that is, public schooling through high school — provides the student with the necessary training to earn a living. It also provides the foundation for a higher education.

Thus it becomes the objective of secondary education—colleges and universities—to provide the student with two types of training: more advanced technical training in his chosen line of endeavor, and an elaboration of other pursuits. These other pursuits are the liberal arts subjects.

Liberal arts colleges, particularly those which are not state supported, offer a limitless challenge to those who would improve their minds. The courses they offer have been termed "mind stretching" opportunities by Dr. Harold W. Dodds. Dr. Dodds is one of the prominent educators concerned about the trend toward "vocational subjects capitalizing on making a living."

Homesick Troops

Many a homesick American soldier can sympathize with the Scandinavian soldiers in the United Nations emergency force in Egypt, who are restless and bored and want to go home.

Of course, peacetime soldiers since Caesar's time have been restless and bored and wanted to go home.

But here there is a difference. The defense ministers of Norway, Denmark, Finland and Sweden agree with their soldiers. They have jointly announced that the 1,500 Scandinavians now on six months emergency duty will be withdrawn this summer.

Because they are small nations, they will be able to get away with this action. But picture the consternation if the United States started pulling back any of its far-flung forces. A clamor would sound throughout the free world.

Lillian Roth Plans New Careers

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—At 46 Lillian Roth, who made one of the greatest comebacks in the history of show business, is saying goodby to the night club world.

But Lillian isn't quitting so she can retire to a rocking chair. She simply wants to branch out into two new careers—as a lecturer and newspaper columnist.

The dark-eyed movie and musical comedy star, who became a top entertainer again after a losing 16-year bout with the bottle, said a three-week engagement next month at the Sahara in Las Vegas would be her last in the night club field.

"I'm grateful to the night clubs," she said. "They've been wonderful to me. They've paid me up to $10,000 a week, more than I earned in the old days.

"But it is no way to live permanently. I've been singing since I was 15, and since 1951 I've sung more than 50,000 songs.

"I'm 46 now, feel better than I did at 36, but if—God willing—I have a few years left, I'd like to spend them living another kind of life."

It doesn't promise to be any more restful, but Lillian says she isn't looking for a rest.

"I have a lot to do and learn," she said. "After all, I wasted 16 years before I found God was the crutch that alcohol wasn't."

Her plans for the future make Miss Roth sound like a one-woman empire. She is completing another book, "Beyond My Worth," a sequel to her best-selling "I'll Cry Tomorrow."

She also has signed to write a syndicated column three times a week in which she will answer the problems of readers. She is nearly set for 10 weeks of summer stock in the stage version of "Mildred Pierce." And in the fall she starts a nationwide lecture tour.

The lectures will be on the inspirational side, based on Miss Roth's philosophy that "sorrow is the common denominator that brings all people together. There is no one who hasn't known sorrow, and no one who can't smile later."

Lillian knows the road back by the feel of all the rocks along the way. She took her last drink of booze on June 28, 1946, but it wasn't until 1951 that she could really face an audience again.

"The longest step in a comeback is the first one you take back up the ladder," she said. "Something seems missing in you at the start.

"It took me five long years to regain the talent God had given me, and to re-establish myself in my own eyes as a human being again."

Did Old Days Have Real Hate?

By George Sokolsky

When we were all young, it was fashionable to have appendicitis and many died of it. Then they changed its name to an appendectomy and blamed it all on castor oil. Now not so many die of it. Instead now one has various forms of heart ailments, not the romantic kind that comes from unrequited love but the physical kind that comes from eating the wrong kind of foods.

Back when I was young, politicians smoked cigars, generally the two for a quarter kind, as that marked a man off as having moved a step up the ladder of life, the nickel cigar being for the common people. Nowadays, even the most advanced gentlemen in public life smoke cigarettes, unfiltered or filtered, the ordinary size or king size, but according to the doctors cigarettes could give you cancer.

It used to be that cigarettes stunted the growth. A youth who smoked "coffin nails," as they were called, was not supposed to grow to be tall and to have hair on his chest.

Women did not smoke — certainly not in public. Of course, there were always the wrong kinds of women who should have been ashamed of themselves. They also put rouge on their cheeks which was the trade mark of an unmentionable profession that every boy learned about from other boys and contact with which was a sure cure for pimples and blackheads.

If a girl became one of those, she was not called a celebrity but was sure to meet a fate worse than death.

It was a very good era that worshipped robustness. A woman who had less on her frame than Jayne Mansfield was regarded as unsafe to marry lest she be susceptible to tuberculosis which was called consumption. When the doctors fancied up the names of these sicknesses, they charged more to cure them. Consumption was something to be feared, as many got it and it was one of the great revolutions in medicine when it was discovered that fresh air, eggs and milk were the best cure.

Nobody had yet discovered orange juice. In fact, oranges were a fruit that showed up around Christmas time. They were small; their skin was pitted; and one ate them gingerly lest their juice squirt into the eye. There were no grape-fruits. When orange juice was invented, squeezers came on the market. Nobody knew anything about vitamins.

People drank orange juice because it tasted good. Before that, they ate stewed prunes and apple-sauce. In fact, in some parts of the country, apple pie was eaten for breakfast. Nobody was afraid of getting fat. The doctors had not yet discovered that obesity was a disease, although gluttony was a sin.

Ice cream was bought in a candy store. Nobody bought ice cream in a drugstore. Candy stores were generally run by Germans who also managed the better bakeries and restaurants, although the fanciest places were supposed to be French. Nobody objected to immigrants earning a living except in some places there used to be prejudices against the Irish, of whom it was said that they made the best household servants. Prejudices were regarded as normal among human beings who were accepted as imperfect and were not expected to be gods on earth.

In fact, the most amusing humor was the dialect story and such really great actors as Joe Weber, Lou Fields, David Warfield and others of that generation built their careers on dialects, the most popular being the German, the Jewish and the Irish. Today the dialect is more or less dead, having been killed by Hitler-scared small minds who are so lacking in a sense of humor that they can no longer laugh at themselves.

Nevertheless, the dialect is so natural an expression of human fun that when Menasha Skulnik plays on Broadway in a Bronx-bred sing-songy English, it is hard to get tickets at any price. Of course, dialects change and the kind one hears nowadays, either authentic Brooklyn or third generation Bronx, is very different from the curious language of my childhood called English.

One can think of those good, unhurried old days with some nostalgic sentimentality — particularly when one recalls a world without real hate in it. Who expected a Syrian peddler to sell an authentic Oriental carpet? Did we have to hate him because he tried to make a dishonest buck?

Liberal Education's Vital Role

With heavy emphasis on technical skills in current school curriculums, many educators are becoming fearful lest academic pursuits become lost in the shuffle.

It is undoubtedly true that most labor shortages today are in the technical fields such as engineering, science and skilled labor, and the nation's schools are re-evaluating their training to emphasize these vocations. But to produce a well-rounded personality, specialization in one subject is not sufficient. It is to fill this gap that the liberal arts colleges offer their services.

Liberal arts courses, in themselves, do not prepare the individual for earning a livelihood. It is not their purpose. Instead, the study of languages, history, literature and related subjects gives the student the necessary additives to lead a more interesting, intelligent life.

Primary education — that is, public schooling through high school — provides the student with the necessary training to earn a living. It also provides the foundation for a higher education.

Thus it becomes the objective of secondary education—colleges and universities—to provide the student with two types of training, more advanced technical training in his chosen line of endeavor, and an elaboration of other pursuits. These other pursuits are the liberal arts subjects.

Liberal arts colleges, particularly those which are not state supported, offer a limitless challenge to those who would improve their minds. The courses they offer have been termed "mind stretching" opportunities by Dr. Harold W. Dodds. Dr. Dodds is one of the prominent educators concerned about the trend toward "vocational subjects capitalizing on making a living."

Apply Make-Up In Right Light

The light side of beauty is one that is often overlooked.

Light is something you need when you are applying make-up. The wrong light can change your appearance completely.

For example, if you put on make-up in front of the fluorescent light in the bathroom, it will give lipstick a blue cast. Get out in the sunshine and the effect is changed, sometimes not for the better.

For this reason, apply make-up in the light you will be in when you are wearing it. This is one sure way of knowing you will look your best.

With the season for outdoor activities right around the corner, you will find it a good bet to do your making-up near a window. Have the daylight strong on your face. You will then be able to tell if you are applying too much make-up; if it will look artificial when you step outside.

In winter months, strong lights on either side of the dressing table provide the proper illumination for cosmetic applications.

Movie stars are always careful to be seen in the best possible light. This means they are aware that candlelight is extremely soft and flattering to a woman's face. They avoid harsh lights that glare down on the face, show up every little line and wrinkle.

It is not always possible to arrange lighting for glamorizing effects, but, when it can be managed, it is a good beauty trick.

Versatile-Functional Hassock Handy To Have

A hassock is a hassock and that is not the half of it!

Dad's favorite piece of furniture, the one he rested his feet on when he sank into that favorite chair with the evening paper, has become a dual-purpose design. Like everything else in the home furnishings field, it is functional, and that is fine with homemakers who are short on space—as who is not?

Instead of being just a footrest, the hassock can serve a variety of uses. Some double as seats for tele-viewers. Others serve as snack tables. Many of them provide extra storage space.

This small furniture piece has become very versatile. It fills the bill on three counts: good design; dual-purpose qualities and easy up-keep.

The vinyl covering used on the hassocks is responsible for the last point. It resists stains, snagging and scuffing, can be wiped clean with a damp, soapy cloth and that is proof enough that the streamlined hassock is handy to have.

The square hassock shown above is used for storing sewing materials. It is fitted with pockets for patterns, has thread holders and a utility tray as well.

Was Slayer Wearing Pants Of Pink or Blue and White?

To the readers: The following article, written by Miss Carolyn Stout of Ashville-Harrison High School, gives a vivid account of a class-room "trial" growing out of a make-believe murder—all arranged by the school's government class as part of its study of law enforcement and courtroom procedure. The merry tangle of "testimony" and "evidence" is certain to impress even the most hardened whodunit reader. And maybe you yourself can give a verdict before you come to the last paragraph

During the past few weeks, the Ashville - Harrison government class has been conducting a mock murder trial in connection with a study of the nation's law enforcement and judicial branches.

Willard Kuhlwein, a member of the class, volunteered to be the defendent. His lawyers were Lon Cromley and Larry Fullen. The prosecuting attorneys were Arthur Mershon and Robert Newton. Other students who held offices on the mock court were Robert Bartholomew and Gary Tedrow, coroners; Richard Miller, sheriff; Carole Peters, baliff; Carol Teegardin, judge; and Katy Cromley, stenographer.

Several sudents were declined seats on the jury because of the fact that they did not believe in capital punishment. However, the jury was finally selected. Members were: Beverly Riegel, Jill Zwayer, Alice Baum, Eleanor Aldenderfer, Bill Hickman, foreman; Don Welsh, and alternate Joe Frase.

The court accepted the coroner's report which stated that the victim, John Grubbs, was killed by a severe beating inflicted by a blunt object. The make-believe murder was assumed to have taken place around noon on February 21, in the alley running between Plum and Gay streets in Ashville. In true-to-life manner, the mythical trial went as follows:

* * *

SHERIFF MILLER was the first witness for the prosecution. He testified that a pipe had been found near the place where the body was discovered. The pipe was smeared with blood which matched that of the victim and held fingerprints of the defendant. He admitted, however, that these prints could have been on the pipe for an indefinite time.

Miss Connie Courtright and Miss Diane Nance each stated that Kuhlwein was entirely capable of murder if driven far enough because he was known to have a rather violent temper.

Edwin Leatherwood, the key witness for the prosecution, stated that he saw the murder take place while collecting garbage in the vicinity. He testified that the defendant looked to him like the person he saw strike the victim.

In the cross-examination the defense pointed out that much evidence supported the idea that Leatherwood might be guilty. He admittedly was not the best of friends with Grubbs. He was in the vicinity of the murder at the time of the murder. He witnessed the murder and noticed many details about it, but did not report it to the police.

Miss Bonnie Brown, the first witness for the defense, testified that she had dated Kuhlwein for 5½ months and that he had always acted like a gentleman when she had been around him. Next on the stand was Miss Joy Trone who attempted to clear up a controversial point—the location of her garbage can. She stated that to the best of her knowledge it had not been moved but that it was easy to lite.

To prove that their client was in school during part of the time the murder might have been committed, the defense summoned the principle, C. E. Mahaffey, to appear as a witness. He stated that Kuhlwein was present that day in his class from 10:30 until 11:15 a. m.

* * *

BOB BOYER and Boyd Ruh, who are fellow workers of Kuhlwein on the schoolboy patrol, testified that the defendant did not leave their sight while going through the alley in question. Ruh stated he did not discover the body until he had returned to school and was going downtown again.

Edwin Leatherwood was recalled to the stand. The defense attorneys reminded him of the fact that he had noticed many details of the crime and asked what clothing the culprit wore. The witness stated that he wore pink trousers but did not notice the rest of his attire.

The next witness called was Lee Spencer. Spencer testified that while he was attending English class on the fateful day, all the students had risen to watch the Walnut Township coach leave the school. While he was looking out the window, he noticed the defendant leaving school as a patrol boy. Since the students had remarked to him about Kuhlwein's pants, he took notice of them. They were blue trimmed with white.

When Kuhlwein was questioned he stated that he was always with Boyer at noon and that he had at some time picked up a pipe and carried it with him.

After each side had given a summary of its testimony, the jury went into deliberation. It could not reach a decision and did not bring forth a verdict. Due to the lack of time and the fact that the trial was fictitious anyway, the charges were dropped and Willard Kuhlwein was set free.

East Liverpool Finds Extra Fund

EAST LIVERPOOL (AP)—Twenty city employes, notified they would be furloughed Monday because of lack of funds to pay their salaries, will remain on the payroll. An unexpected $10,000 windfall in the form of an increase in the city's share of inheritance taxes makes the difference. Columbiana County Auditor I. J. Vorndren said the tax share would be $26,000 instead of $16,000 estimated previously.

$2 Million Nursing Home Is Planned

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tentative plans for construction of a 100-bed, $2 milion nursing home for chronic patients at Mt. Sinai Hospital have been announced.

Michael S. Grobsmith, director of the Jewish Convalescent Home, said the plan has been approved in principle by the hospital trustees and the Jewish Federation, and final approval is expected after details are worked out.

When You Pay Income Tax, Save A Copy

Taxpayers should be careful to retain complete and accurate copies of their 1956 Federal income tax returns after filing originals with the district office of the Internal Revenue Service, Nathaniel Looker, District Director, warned today.

"Copies of 1040s and 1040As kept with other important financial documents enable taxpayers to maintain better 1957 records of income and expense, and serve as a helpful guide in preparing returns in future years, especially in cases in which special problems may have arisen in compiling the 1956 return which could recur in future years," Looker said.

Copies of all other tax returns and records, federal, state or municipal, also should be kept, together with general records of expenditures, especially those which may be deductible for income tax purposes, like doctors' bills, interest payments and other items, the director advised.

"Many financial institutions in several parts of the country provide clients and customers with concise record-keeping booklets for greater ease in compiling month-by-month records, resulting in accurate break-down tabulations in all major expense categories at the end of the year.

"A small inexpensive ruled book may be used, and if systematic entries are made, the taxpayer will find preparation of his return aided and simplified at the next filing period," Looker said.

62 New Lawyers Take Their Oaths

COLUMBUS (AP)—Carl V. Weygandt, chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, Wednesday administered the oath of office to 62 attorneys who recently passed Ohio Bar Assn. examinations.

Among the 62 was State Rep. John J. Connors, Jr., 39, Toledo, whose wife and five children watched. Connors was 15 years out of high school when he began his University of Toledo work, and in the interim he operated a small grocery. He sold the store two years ago to give all his time to his education.

'Electronic Brain' Amazes Governor

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Department of Highways has a machine that Gov. C. William O'Neill thinks is "amazing."

O'Neill registered his amazement when he was shown the department's "electronic brain."

The "brain" can take a few basic facts, feed them through its intricate mechanisms, and come up with answers it would take 70 engineers to figure out. The department pays $4,900 a month to rent it. Twenty employes see that it functions properly.

Store Manager Admits Thefts

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 51-year-old Sears Roebuck & Co. warehouse department manager admitted in a signed statement early today that he took $28,000 worth of tires from the company warehouse.

Officers said John E. Morrell, Cleveland, explained that he took the tires, a few at a time, over a two-year period by writing false orders for branch stores. He was quoted as saying he gave some to friends and sold others in his neighborhood.

Crossroads Near Columbus 'Most Dangerous' In State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More accidents happened at the intersection of Georgesville Road and U. S. 40 west of Columbus than at any other rural crossroads in the state last year, the Department of Highway Safety announced today.

The intersection is just one of 97 so-called "trouble spots" on rural roads that have claimed 10 or more accidents.

The department said 28 accidents causing 28 injuries took place at the Georgesville-U. S. 40 intersection during 1956.

The intersection of Kenwood Road and Ohio 22, west of Montgomery in Hamilton County, had 24 accidents with 15 injuries to rank second. Third-ranked "trouble spot" is the junction of Ohio 306 and U. S. 20, west of Mentor in Lake County—24 accidents with 22 injuries.

The injury rate was highest at the intersection of Ohio 90 and 332 east of Orwell in Ashtabula County where 16 accidents resulted in 38 injuries.

Nine of the "trouble spots" claimed 11 lives last year, compared to 13 intersections that claimed 24 lives in 1955.

Lucas County had the highest number of trouble spots—18. Behind it was Montgomery County with 15 and Franklin County with 12.

Crossroads with 20 or more accidents last year were: The junction of Ohio 254 and 57 south of Lorain in Lorain County, 24 accidents and 24 injuries; Ohio 741 and U. S. 25 south of Dayton in Montgomery County, 23 accidents and 11 injuries; Ohio 8 south of Boston Heights in Summit County, 22 accidents, a single death, 17 injuries; Ohio 8 and U. S. 224, east of Akron in Summit County, 22 accidents and 3 injuries; and the junction of Hill Avenue and U. S. 20 north of Maumee in Lucas county, 20 accidents and 8 injuries.

Ravenna Arsenal Cited For Safety

RAVENNA (AP)—The Ravenna Arsenal, which sprawls over 23,000 acres of land along Ohio 5 west of here, has the reputation of being Ohio's safest plant.

The plant, operated for the government by the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., has not had a fatal accident since it was reopened under Firestone supervision in 1951. With a work force of up to 1,200, the arsenal has had but three lost time accidents since 1954, but none was connected with explosives.

Was Slayer Wearing Pants Of Pink or Blue and White?

To the readers: The following article, written by Miss Carolyn Stout of Ashville-Harrison High School, gives a vivid account of a class-room "trial" growing out of a make-believe murder—all arranged by the school's government class as part of its study of law enforcement and courtroom procedure. The merry tangle of "testimony" and "evidence" is certain to impress even the most hardened whodunit reader. And maybe you yourself can give a verdict before you come to the last paragraph

During the past few weeks, the Ashville - Harrison government class has been conducting a mock murder trial in connection with a study of the nation's law enforcement and judicial branches.

Willard Kuhlwein, a member of the class, volunteered to be the defendent. His lawyers were Lon Cromley and Larry Fullen. The prosecuting attorneys were Arthur Mershon and Robert Newton. Other students who held offices on the mock court were Robert Bartholomew and Gary Tedrow, coroners; Richard Miller, sheriff; Carole Peters, baliff; Carol Teegardin, judge; and Katy Cromley, stenographer.

Several sudents were declined seats on the jury because of the fact that they did not believe in capital punishment. However, the jury was finally selected. Members were: Beverly Riegel, Jill Zwayer, Alice Baum, Eleanor Aldenderfer, Bill Hickman, foreman; Don Welsh, and alternate Joe Frase.

The court accepted the coroner's report which stated that the victim, John Grubbs, was killed by a severe beating inflicted by a blunt object. The make-believe murder was assumed to have taken place around noon on February 21, in the alley running between Plum and Gay streets in Ashville. In true-to-life manner, the mythical trial went as follows:

• • •

SHERIFF MILLER was the first witness for the prosecution. He testified that a pipe had been found near the place where the body was discovered. The pipe was smeared with blood which matched that of the victim and held fingerprints of the defendant. He admitted, however, that these prints could have been on the pipe for an indefinite time.

Miss Connie Courtright and Miss Diane Nance each stated that Kuhlwein was entirely capable of murder if driven far enough because he was known to have a rather violent temper.

Edwin Leatherwood, the key witness for the prosecution, stated that he saw the murder take place while collecting garbage in the vicinity. He testified that the defendant looked to him like the person he saw strike the victim.

In the cross-examination the defense pointed out that much evidence supported the idea that Leatherwood might be guilty. He admittedly was not the best of friends with Grubbs. He was in the vicinity of the murder at the time of the murder. He witnessed the murder and noticed many details about it, but did not report it to the police.

Miss Bonnie Brown, the first witness for the defense, testified that she had dated Kuhlwein for 5½ months and that he had always acted like a gentleman when she had been around him. Next on the stand was Miss Joy Trone who attempted to clear up a controversial point—the location of her garbage can. She stated that to the best of her knowledge it had not been moved but that it was easy to lite.

To prove that their client was in school during part of the time the murder might have been committed, the defense summoned the principle, C. E. Mahaffey, to appear as a witness. He stated that Kuhlwein was present that day in his class from 10:30 until 11:15 a. m.

• • •

BOB BOYER and Boyd Ruh, who are fellow workers of Kuhlwein on the schoolboy patrol, testified that the defendant did not leave their sight while going through the alley in question. Ruh stated he did not discover the body until he had returned to school and was going downtown again.

Edwin Leatherwood was recalled to the stand. The defense attorneys reminded him of the fact that he had noticed many details of the crime and asked what clothing the culprit wore. The witness stated that he wore pink trousers but did not notice the rest of his attire.

The next witness called was Lee Spencer. Spencer testified that while he was attending English class on the fateful day, all the students had risen to watch the Walnut Township coach leave the school. While he was looking out the window, he noticed the defendant leaving school as a patrol boy. Since the students had remarked to him about Kuhlwein's pants, he took notice of them. They were blue trimmed with white.

When Kuhlwein was questioned he stated that he was always with Boyer at noon and that he had at some time picked up a pipe and carried it with him.

After each side had given a summary of its testimony, the jury went into deliberation. It could not reach a decision and did not bring forth a verdict. Due to the lack of time and the fact that the trial was fictitious anyway, the charges were dropped and Willard Kuhlwein was set free.

When You Pay Income Tax, Save A Copy

Taxpayers should be careful to retain complete and accurate copies of their 1956 Federal income tax returns after filing originals with the district office of the Internal Revenue Service, Nathaniel Looker, District Director, warned today.

Crossroads Near Columbus 'Most Dangerous' In State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More accidents happened at the intersection of Georgesville Road and U. S. 40 west of Columbus than at any other rural crossroads in the state last year, the Department of Highway Safety announced today.

The intersection is just one of 97 so-called "trouble spots" on rural roads that have claimed 10 or more accidents.

The department said 28 accidents causing 28 injuries took place at the Georgesville-U. S. 40 intersection during 1956.

The intersection of Kenwood Road and Ohio 22, west of Montgomery in Hamilton County, had 24 accidents with 15 injuries to rank second. Third-ranked "trouble spot" is the junction of Ohio 306 and U. S. 20, west of Mentor in Lake County—24 accidents with 22 injuries.

The injury rate was highest at the intersection of Ohio 90 and 332 east of Orwell in Ashtabula County where 16 accidents resulted in 38 injuries.

Nine of the "trouble spots" claimed 11 lives last year, compared to 13 intersections that claimed 24 lives in 1955.

Lucas County had the highest number of trouble spots—18. Behind it was Montgomery County with 15 and Franklin County with 12.

Crossroads with 20 or more accidents last year were: The junction of Ohio 254 and 57 south of Lorain in Lorain County, 24 accidents and 24 injuries; Ohio 741 and U. The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—For a man who tried to make like a clam, Dave Beck made a lot of noise. He ducked behind the Fifth Amendment to keep his mouth shut but insisted on keeping it open the better part of two days.

The result: the roundish president of the Teamsters Union talked more and said less than any man in recent memory. But, except for raising questions about what he wouldn't tell, Beck managed to tell a Senate investigating committee very little.

A witness before such a committee can rightfully use the Fifth Amendment to refuse answers to questions only if he thinks his replies might tend to incriminate him. Did Beck think his answers might tend to incriminate him? "Definitely," he said.

But where another witness might mumble the amendment and shut up, Beck persisted on making a long statement, the same one over and over, bringing in not only the Fifth Amendment but also the Fourth Amendment dealing with search and seizure, the first three articles of the Constitution which establish the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government, the committee's authority, and the relevancy of the questions it asked.

Can he get away with his almost blanket refusal to cooperate with the committee which is investigating his handling of union funds? Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), committee chairman, isn't sure and says he will find out.

A man cited by Congress for contempt in refusing to answer questions can, if tried and convicted in federal court, be fined and jailed for a year.

Ordinarily a witness using the Fifth Amendment can't be cited for contempt. But if he tries to choose what question to answer, and what to ignore by using the amendment, he gets on ticklish ground.

Beck did not follow his own rule of no answers 100 per cent. For example: He volunteered the information his union had authorized a 1½-million-dollar loan to the Fruehauf Trailer Corp. which, he said, paid it back in 14 months.

But when committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy asked Beck if he himself had ever received money directly or indirectly from Fruehauf, Beck took the Fifth Amendment. Kennedy then asked this double-barreled one:

Was Beck in trouble with the income tax people in 1954 because he had taken $320,000 from the union in the past? And had Beck gone to Fruehauf for $200,000 which he turned over to the union? Beck took the Fifth Amendment.

It is a violation of federal law—the Taft-Hartley Act — for an employer to give money to a representative of any of his employes or for such a representative to accept money from such an employer.

There is no such charge against Beck now. There is no charge against him by the income tax people. In fact, there is no charge of any kind against him at this moment. Beck says he'll come out of all this "clean and white."

But McClellan told Beck "evidence has been developed that you have misappropriated funds" from the union. If so, it would not be a violation of any federal law since there is no federal law covering such an offense.

If there was such an offense, and it could be proved, the only action which could be taken against Beck would have to come under state law, on some such charge as larceny.

Law Said Feminine If Controversial

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The State Senate Finance Committee ended a long discussion on a bill by voting a favorable report.

"Well," said State Sen. Frederick C. Malkus Jr., "we'll bring her out on the floor this afternoon."

"How do you know that bill is a 'her' and not a 'him,' Fred," asked another state senator.

"That's easy," said a third. "If it's controversial, it's feminine."

Can he get away with his almost blanket refusal to cooperate with the committee which is investigating his handling of union funds? Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), committee chairman, isn't sure and says he will find out.

A man cited by Congress for contempt in refusing to answer questions can, if tried and convicted in federal court, be fined and jailed for a year.

Ordinarily a witness using the Fifth Amendment can't be cited for contempt. But if he tries to choose what question to answer, and what to ignore by using the amendment, he gets on ticklish ground.

Beck did not follow his own rule of no answers 100 per cent. For example: He volunteered the information his union had authorized a 1½-million-dollar loan to the Fruehauf Trailer Corp. which, he said, paid it back in 14 months.

But when committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy asked Beck if he himself had ever received money directly or indirectly from Fruehauf, Beck took the Fifth Amendment. Kennedy then asked this double-barreled one:

Was Beck in trouble with the income tax people in 1954 because he had taken $320,000 from the union in the past? And had Beck gone to Fruehauf for $200,000 which he turned over to the union? Beck took the Fifth Amendment.

It is a violation of federal law—the Taft-Hartley Act — for an employer to give money to a representative of any of his employes or for such a representative to accept money from such an employer.

There is no such charge against Beck now. There is no charge against him by the income tax people. In fact, there is no charge of any kind against him at this moment. Beck says he'll come out of all this "clean and white."

But McClellan told Beck "evidence has been developed that you have misappropriated funds" from the union. If so, it would not be a violation of any federal law since there is no federal law covering such an offense.

If there was such an offense, and it could be proved, the only action which could be taken against Beck would have to come under state law, on some such charge as larceny.

Law Said Feminine If Controversial

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The State Senate Finance Committee ended a long discussion on a bill by voting a favorable report.

"Well," said State Sen. Frederick C. Malkus Jr., "we'll bring her out on the floor this afternoon."

"How do you know that bill is a 'her' and not a 'him,' Fred," asked another state senator.

"That's easy," said a third. "If it's controversial, it's feminine."

38-Year-Old Annuity Deal Tells Odd Story

104-Year-Old Lady's Example Shows How Dollar Value Changes

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—A living example of what is happening to savings and income in this inflationary century is reported from Los Angeles. It's a story that's all glowing on the surface but may have some disturbing shadows underneath.

Miss Sarah A. Walker, now 104, has been getting income payments regularly for 38 years from three small annuities she bought in 1919 when she was 65. Since she happily has long since survived the life expectancy averages on which the annuities were based she has by now collected $2.50 for each $1 she invested then.

That's very pleasant for her and even the insurance companies who sold the annuities aren't complaining. They wish her many more happy returns—and income checks.

But the 38 years have seen some startling changes to that money and to the economy in general—not to mention life expectancy tables.

In 1919 when Miss Walker bought the annuities her stated purpose was to increase her income. Doubtless she felt the need for that more keenly just then because the inflation that accompanied and followed World War I was in full swing. The first income checks she cashed in 1920 didn't buy her as much at the store as the money she invested just a year before, and bought her far less than she could have gotten in 1914.

But that changed quickly and for most of the years between 1920 and 1933 Miss Walker was getting bigger and bigger at-the-store returns on her fixed income.

From that time on, alas, with few interruptions, her income check has shrivelled steadily at the store.

The government's consumer price index takes the 1947-49 average as 100. That puts the cost of living index in 1919 at 76.9. In 1933 it had sunk to 55.8. But since then it has more than doubled and now stands at a record 118.7.

In other words, the purchasing power of the dollar has dropped so low that if Miss Walker's annity payment was $76.90 in 1919 when she invested, she would have to dig up an extra $41.80 today if she wants to buy as much at the store.

The economy she knew in 1919 has changed just about as startling as the value of her dollar.

There were 105 million Americans then and the total dollar value of the goods and services produced that year came to 84½ billion dollars—or figured at present prices some 110 billion.

Now there are some 170 million Americans and they are expected to turn out a gross national product of 430 billion dollars or more this year.

When Miss Walker invested her money there were fewer than five million Americans her age, 65, or over. There are now perhaps 14 million in that age bracket—and most of them also are living on some form of fixed income, whose purchasing power has gone down like hers.

In 1919 the average length of life for women in this country was around 55 years — she already was 10 years past that. By now it has risen to 73 or 74. And at 104 Miss Walker can laugh at the averages.

While she is the oldest person on the annuity payment roster, she is not lonely there. The Institute of Life Insurance says there are 600 persons 95 years or older who are getting annuity payments, and 40 are 100 or more.

Most of them have got back at least twice as many dollars as they invested. Their only complaint could be in what's happened to the dollar's purchasing power.

The ancient Egyptians used petroleum to grease their chariots and to preserve their pharaohs.

Historian Chides Reliance On Courts

TOLEDO (AP)—Dr. Henry Steele Commager "views with misgiving" the growing reliance of Americans to look to the courts to safeguard their civil freedoms.

The Amherst College professor, author and historian said society is not safe in depending on the "fortuity of judicial review" to erase bad laws and implement sound laws. He spoke at a meeting sponsored by the Toledo Bar Assn.'s Committee on Constitutional Rights.

Picture Producer Named In Lawsuit

WASHINGTIN (AP)—Loew's, Inc., a theater chain and producers of M-G-M motion pictures, was charged with a civil anti-trust action Wednesday.

The suit charged that Loew's has required television stations to take its pictures in groups, including pictures the stations did not want, in order to get the pictures they did want.

Feds Grab Counterfeit Bill Makers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Secret Service said today two men arrested with a huge cache of counterfeit $20 bills have admitted making the bogus currency in a Salt Lake City printing plant.

F.E. Strout, special ecret Service agent in charge at St. Paul, said "there is reason to believe about $600,000 in counterfeit money" had been printed.

Arrested at a motel Tuesday night were two men identified by police as Max C. Christopherson, 31, Salt Lake City, and Edward L. Montoro, 21, Los Angeles. Both men said they were printers.

The phoney money was found packed into seat cushions of the car in which the men arrived here Tuesday. They came under suspicion when they decided to carry the cushions into their motel. The motel operator called police.

No exact count of the bills seized here has been made, Strout said, but he indicated the figure would run into the hundreds of thousands of "dollars."

A few of the bills apparently were passed in Minneapolis, Strout said.

Dramatic And Dangerous Moments

Foreign Service Officers Backbone of U.S. Diplomacy

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fred Sacksteader was vice consul of the United States at Lyon, France, in 1955.

Until Sept. 1 of that year, life had been fairly routine — visas, import-export licenses, looking after lost or wayward Yanks.

But on that day Sacksteader, now serving in Washington, had an opportunity to demonstrate the payoff of the State Department's careful selection of each Foreign Service officer, this government's eyes, ears, right arm and backbone overseas.

Lyon, a heavy industrial center, was subjected to a severe storm. Hailstones shattered nearly every skylight in town. Millions of dollars worth of machinery was exposed.

Sacksteader said in an interview, "The consul was out of town when I got a call from the French asking if we could contact our military and obtain canvas tenting for covers.

"We started an airlift of tents and tarpaulins. Then we hauled it in by truck. In all we provided about 500,000 square feet of canvas. In Lyon it was a Page 1 story. The tone of those stories was that 'other countries may talk of what they do for us. The Americans act.'"

Often humdrum, the life of an FSO does have its dramatic—and dangerous—moments. Since the department was founded in 1789 some 75 FSOs have lost their lives, some in earthquakes, some in shipwrecks and some by bullets and bombs.

On Nov. 1, 1948, the Bamboo Curtain descended before the American consulate at Mukden, China, headed by Angus Ward. The staff was imprisoned, threatened, accused of being spies and finally deported. Ward himself was beaten by a Chinese servant trying to curry favor with the Communists. Despite 28 days of intensive questioning, Red-style, none of the staff members cracked.

In the State Department's command setup, which closely parallels that of the armed services, the FSO is under constant scrutiny. His personnel folder is examined by experts yearly. If he is classed with the bottom 10 per cent in proficiency for three consecutive years, he is fired.

His beginning salary is between $4,300 and $5,350 a year, depending upon marital status and background. He can look forward to promotion about every two or three years and possibly the title of career minister at a salary of $17,500. If he becomes a career ambassador his salary will be $20,000. The job of an FSO is varied.

The consular and embassy staffs in Italy provided housing and cars for Americans evacuated from Egypt at the height of the Suez crisis, even supplying dinners out of their own pockets and often in their own homes.

Last year 12,595 young Americans applied for FSO jobs and of these about 5,500 actually took the extraordinarily stiff written and oral examinations. Only 20 per cent of those making top grades were selected.

London Bobbies Keep Watch On Big Ben And Pranksters

LONDON (AP) — The policemen who tramp across Westminister Bridge look up frequently to see whether there is anything unauthorized hanging above Big Ben.

For the famous clock is the place where light-hearted students and other pranksters like to dangle odd objects, like underwear or Russian flags. With spring in the air, the hoaxers are coming out of hibernation.

There is probably no country like Britain for irreverent and imaginative pranksters. This season is starting well, but has not yet reached the sublime heights attained several years ago when a policeman was horrified to see a pair of trousers waving from Big Ben's flag pole.

How such dangerous climbs are managed is always a mystery. It took professional steeplejacks, with a lot of ropes and tackle, a full day to bring down the trousers which pranksters must have put up in a few minutes in the dark of night. The tower is 320 feet high.

The best performances so far this season have been reported from Oxford. The other morning there seemed to be something strange and displaced on the roof of Lincoln College. The building staff found a daintily laid table—cutlery, napkins and glassware all correctly laid out. The prank made no sense that anyone could detect, but that is characteristic of these stunts.

Scotland Yard hopes the hoaxers' enterprise this season will not quite match an episode London had to enfure some years ago. Three hoaxers in overalls and with a truck full of tools drew up in Piccadilly Circus, a dizzy, busy traffic Circle in the city's West End.

The three men in overalls unloaded a fence and blocked off one of the busiest traffic lanes. Then they opened up the pavement with pickaxes and dug a deep hole while traffic swirled about. The police thought the department of public works was mending a sewer, or something. Then the three young men went away, leaving their hole. The department of public works was astonished, and the police monumentally irritated. The diggers were never found.

Slayer Tries Suicide In Dayton Jail

DAYTON (AP) — Lee Bryant, 43, convicted of first degree murder last Dec. 18, tried to commit suicide Wednesday in the county jail here.

Deputies said Bryant, who has one arm, slashed himself above the stump of his right arm with his broken eye glasses and the handle of a coffee cup. Other inmates told deputies that Bryant also swallowed bits of glass, deputies said.

They said the suicide attempt came shortly after Bryant learned that his wife Pauline, 30, tried to kill herself Sunday night. Officials said she took an overdose of pain pills and other medicine and is reported in critical condition in Miami Valley Hospital.

Bryant was convicted in the slaying last August of Thomas W. Barner as a result of an argument on a baseball bet. Barner was a friend of a third party who made the wager with Bryant.

A jury recommended mercy, saving Bryant from the electric chair.

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Gilbert P. Farrar, retired newspaper designer who suffered a heart attack Saturday after an operation, is reported in critical condition here today.

Parents Cleared In Child Marriage

BUCYRUS (AP)—The Third District Court of Appeals has reversed the juvenile court conviction of a couple who permitted their 11-year-old daughter to marry.

The parents one year ago were found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of their daughter, Charlene, by giving her their permission to marry 19-year-old Stanley Thorne.

But the three appeals judges ruled the juvenile court verdict was contrary to law and ordered the charges dismissed.

Commands have been given in German, Polish, Slovenian and Historical Society.

Ohio's Revenue From Race Bets Hit New Record

Ohio's revenue from horse race betting reached a new high in 1956, according to State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

Receipts under the state's pari-mutuel wagering law this past year were 68 times the amount taken in 1933, the first year of the racing act.

Wagering and number of racing days also have increased sharply over the years but not in the proportions of the state's income from this source of revenue. Last year bettors pushed more than 19¼ times as much money through the mutuel windows as they did in 1933.

The number of racing days has increased three and a half times over the initial year.

OHIO, according to the state auditor's report, realized $7,089,984 from both running and harness racing in 1956. This is a gain of $742,844 over 1955, the previous high year. In 1933 the state's take amounted to only $104,139. The million dollar mark was passed for the first time in 1951. That year the state's share from racing amounted to $1,039,154. This was an increase of 40 percent over the previous high, set in 1950.

Racing fans last year sent a record $123,567,758 through the mutuel machines as compared to $6,412,510 in 1933.

There was a total of 589 racing days and nights in the state last year as compared to 170 in 1933.

With applications for Korean bonus pay well underway throughout the state, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer James P. Shea announced that over 400 eligible vets have filed here.

Shea added that the rush on filing at his office seems to be over. At present he is handling all applicants during regular office hours.

According to Chester W. Goble, director of the compensation fund, more than 110,000 applications were received at his Columbus headquarters during the first six-day period of filing.

"We planned on receiving this number of applications," director Goble said, "and at no time were we deluged with applications. All our plans are now going into operation in an orderly manner.

"Every measure is being taken to absorb the day-by-day load coming into our mailing department," he added. So far his office has acknowledged 717 applications and returned the original supporting documents.

* * *

DIRECTOR Goble broke down the first week's mail as follows: regular mail (estimated) — 95,262; registered mail (counted) — 2,947; ordinary correspondence with the bonus office (counted)— 11,688.

Director Goble said that applications are now being opened in the mailing room at a rate of more than 2,500 per day. Here the claims are dated and original documents listed. This is the first step.

Second step: numbering section. From the mail-opening operation, the applications go to the numbering section. Here all papers are put into folders, the claim numbers affixed to the application form and the folder and all necessary original documents stamped "Korean Conflict Compensation Fund Applied For."

Third step: acknowledgment section. From the numbering section, the claim files go to the acknowledgment section where the special "snap-out" form is prepared for each claim. In one typing operation the acknowledgment is prepared along with the 3 by 5 alphabetical index card, the 3 by 5 numerial claim file index card, the change of address form and the label for the return envelope.

Fourth step: photostat section. The next step is to photocopy the necessary original documents and to replace the original documents in the claim file with the photocopies.

Fifth step: acknowledgment section. After the acknowledgment section receive the photocopies from the photostat section, the original papers are rechecked against the record made when the envelope was opened in the first step and are returned in a similar "Do Not Bend" envelope to that in which the veteran mailed in his application.

* * *

AFTER THE original papers and the acknowledgment forms are returned to the applicant, the claim folder with application form and photocopies of the necessary supporting documents are placed in steel files ready for the examining section.

"From the time of the arrival of the first applications on March 12, we have been starting our previously planned machinery," Goble stated.

"It is necessary to carefully train and supervise our personnel at each of the above stages to reduce handling mistakes," he said.

"We have been training our examining staff to stress completeness and accuracy. When the personnel of every department is completely organized, trained and double-checked, we expect to speed up our entire processing procedure," the director explained.

The first checks are expected to be placed in the mails by June 1 to the first applicants who have met all legal requirements.

Layoff Pay Bill Heads For Study

COLUMBUS (AP)—The question of whether Ohio should legalize layoff pay by employers to their jobless workers probably will go to a subcommittee of the House Industry and Labor Committee next week.

Assignment of the issue to a subcommittee was expected Wednesday night, but Chairman Robert F. Reckman (R-Hamilton) postponed the action one week. He said the committee will create two "standing" subcommittees—one to consider unemployment compensation problems and the other to look into issues involving workmen's compensation.

Saxbe Testifies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William Saxbe of Ohio Wednesday testified before a congressional subcommittee against a bill to permit Chicago to take more water from Lake Michigan.

Bryan Police Capture Man For Robberies

BRYAN (AP) — Robert Dansby, 26, accused of armed robbery of a jewelry store here Monday, has admitted to a string of other robberies.

They said Dansby admitted robbing W. Ailes, secretary of the Shelby County Mutual Insurance Agency in Anna, Ohio, March 6. The robbery netted $90,000 in non-negotiable bonds and $450 in cash, police added.

Other robberies police said Dansby admitted include:

A loan company in Marshall, Mich., on March 25, $100.

A state liquor store in Wapakoneta on Feb. 14, $450.

Police from Marshall, Wapakoneta and Bryan questioned Dansby today. He was captured in Defiance one-half hour after the robbery of Schuck's Jewelry store here Monday night. He took $30 in cash and jewelry worth $860, police said. He was armed when arrested.

Dansby is held under $5,000 bond pending a grand jury investigation. He told police he was just passing through Bryan on his way to Lima at the time.

Bryan police said they were questioning Dansby on a Lima pawnshop robbery which netted jewelry valued in excess of $200.

They said he also is suspected of robbing a Bryan supermarket of $8,000 earlier this year.

Political Parties Declared On Wane

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The former chairman of the Republican Party in Michigan says he believes political parties have hit a low ebb in voter influence.

John Feikens, who retired last month as state GOP leader, said that personalities now dominate politics.

He was speaking before the University of Michigan chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

"Political parties, by their trend to partisanship, are losing out," Feikens said. "The big city organizations took a clobbering in the last election and are on the way out."

U.S. Men Said Too Family Conscious

LOS ANGELES (AP) — American men have become too family conscious for their own good; they are losing their spirit of adventure, says anthropologist Margaret Mead.

This "retirement into domesticity" is a dangerous thing for the country, Dr. Mead declared.

"The number of things men with families can't do," she said, "is going up every day."

Too many talented young professional men turn down better jobs which involve moving to another city because such moves would inconvenience the lives of their children, she said.

Sentence Deferred On Former Broker

CINCINNATI (AP) — Judge G. E. Kearns has deferred sentence, pending probation investigation, for Lenford H. Harrison, former investment broker.

Harrison pleaded guilty to four indictments charging him with selling unregistered securities in connection with oil lease ventures in Indiana and Kentucky in 1954.

Weeky Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Shoppers who have grown accustomed to seeing beef featured at their favorite supermarket or neighborhood store will find a change in the meat supply situation this week with chickens taking over the most prominent position.

Fryers and roasters, any where from two to six cents a pound cheaper than a week ago, will be the special in many stores. This is unusual at this time of year, and the situation was brought about in part, meat men say, by the heavy snowstorms in the Midwest's lamb and beef-growing areas earlier this week.

Lamb, anywhere from 2 to 12 cents higher in many areas, is featured in only scattered localities. Beef, too, is not nearly as popular as usual for the special feature treatment. This probably accounts for more numerous mentions of veal, pork and ham, too.

Pork prices are expected to be higher this spring, since hog slaughter is running 15 per cent behind last year. Higher prices in the next few months will bring eventual relief, however, as farmers send more pigs to market because of prices that are attractive to them.

Record packs last year also mean lower prices for certain types of canned food such as sweet corn, peas, tomatoes, peaches and fruit cocktail.

Fresh vegetables, on the outstanding buy list in most areas this week, include storage potatoes, root crops like beets and rutabagas.

Pascal celery, beans, onions and such greens as kale, spinach and collard also are good buys.

Recent surveys show that about 85 per cent of the neckties sold in America are bought by women.

Tensions Labeled Cause Of Sterility

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stresses and tensions of modern life have made some men and women sterile, Dr. Robert N. Creadick of Duke University believes.

Emotions and stress can affect body hormones and nerves with consequent effects on fertility, he told the American Academy of General Practice.

Study of psychological factors in sterility has been a major part of newest scientific efforts to help such couples, Dr. Creadick said.

Sterility is most times due to physical causes, some of which can be detected and corrected, the physician said.

Braves Show Redlegs Their Potent Power

Milwaukee Pitching Is Good As Haney's Crew Wins By 12-6

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Manager Fred Haney has said all along that if his pitchers and hitters ever decide to get together the Milwaukee Braves will be mighty tough to beat for the National League pennant.

They missed by only a game last year after frittering away a solid lead in the closing weeks.

And at the start of this season's exhibition games it appeared as if they were up to their old tricks. But they suddenly caught fire and won six of their last eight games.

Wednesday they combined the ingredients that make a pennant contender as they beat the Cincinnati Redlegs 12-6. Warren Spahn allowed only six hits, one of them a homer by Bob Thurman, in seven innings.

The Milwaukee hitters backed up his southpaw slants with 14 hits, including two homers by Joe Adcock — one a grand-slammer and another by Hank Aaron.

Smoky Burgess hit a grand slam homer for Cinci in the ninth off Gene Conley.

The Braves were not the only ones who got good pitching.

The Detroit Tigers got a three-hit job from Frank Lary and Jim Bunning as they mauled the Brooklyn Dodgers 18-1. Al Kaline hit two home runs and Charley Maxwell, Frank House and Reno Bertoia one each in the 20-hit assault on Sal Maglie, Ken Lehman and Clem Labine.

Johnny Kucks held the St. Louis Cardinals to four hits as he went the route for the Yankees. But the world champions dropped a 1-0 decision to the St. Louis Cardinals for their second setback by the same score in as many games. A double by Del Ennis and a triple by Hobie Landrith in the second provided enough working margin for Herm Wehmeier and Larry Jackson.

With Bob Lemon hurling the first five innings rookie Stan Pitula the next three and relief expert Don Mossi the final frame, the Cleveland Indians stopped the slugging Chicago Cubs 6-0.

Elsewhere, the New York Giants chalked up their third straight victory and their eighth in the last nine games with a 5-2 decision over the Boston Red Sox. The Chicago White Sox exploded for eight runs in the third inning and a 9-4 victory over Washington with Minnie Minoso getting three hits and Larry Doby and Dick Donovan one homer each. Alex Kellner walked Ed Bouchee home in the 10th inning with the run that gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 4-3 triumph over Kansas City.

2 New Teams Get High ABC Ranking

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A pair of new teams climbed close behind the Peter Hand Reserve Beer which holds the open division lead in the American Bowling Congress tournament.

The St. Louis Budweisers, national match game champions, fired a 3,077 in their initial team appearance to move into second place. Peter Hand, of Chicago, leads the division with 3,126.

Fertel Jewelers of Akron, Ohio, climbed into third place in the open team standings with 3,061. The Ohio squad rolled games of 936, 1,068 and 1,057.

The Budweisers posted games of 958, 1,058 and 1,061.

First baseman-outfielder Roy Sievers set a Washington record when he hit 29 home runs for the Senators.

Training Camp Briefs

By The Associated Press

ORLANDO, Fla., (AP) — Chuck Comiskey, Chicago White Sox vice president, and Calvin Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, had a tete-a-tete Wednesday but no mention was made of any deals.

The Sox have been trying to get catcher Clint Courtney, but have definitely turned thumbs down on trading Minnie Minoso to do so. Now, the Senators supposedly want to get a couple of young pitchers in the event they decide to let go of Courtney.

LAKELAND, Fla., (AP) — Manager Jack Tighe of the Detroit Tigers says he's satisfied with the way Ray Boone is working out in the switch from third to first base.

"I'm perfectly satisfied with Boone's play," Tighe said. "I'll move him back to third only if we can't find somebody else to play there adequately. I have a feeling that Jim Finigan will qualify. Right now, he is troubled by a bad leg."

ORLANDO, Fla., (AP) — The Dodgers' Duke Snider is having his difficulties at the plate this spring. The Brooklyn star outfielder is batting a paltry .125 with four hits in 32 trips.

He played nine innings for the first time Wednesday, and failed to get the ball out of the infield in four at bats against Detroit.

BRADENTON, Fla., (AP) — Milwaukee Braves first baseman Joe Adcock says a sore shoulder "may help me become a better hitter this year."

Adcock, who hit .291 last year, belted two home runs — one of them a grand slammer — as the Braves humbled the Cincinnati Redlegs 12-6 Wednesday.

"I've been striking out too much in the past and I think my big trouble has been swinging too hard. The shoulder injury is helping me to slow down the swing," he explained.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., (AP) — Herm Wehmeier, the St. Louis Cardinals' best pitcher down the stretch last year, has limited the New York Yankees to only one run in 15 innings this spring.

This puts the 205-pound right-hander in line for the opening day pitching assignment for the Redbirds. Manager Fred Hutchinson said Wednesday the opening pitcher would be either Wehmeier, with his sparkling 1.45 grapefruit league earned run average, or Sad Sam Jones, a shut out pitcher for seven innings earlier in the week.

MESA, Ariz., (AP) — The Chicago Cubs have trimmed their roster to 34, shipping two players to the Portland farm club and earmarking another for minor league duty at a spot to be determined later.

Vice President John Holland announced that infield Eddie McKee and right-hander Bobby Thorpe have been assigned to the Portland club. McKee played for Des Moines last year.

Dave Stenhouse, a right-hander, will remain at Mesa for the time being but will be assigned later, Holland said. Stenhouse had a 16-4 record with Lafayette. He didn't pitch an inning for the Cubs this spring.

'No Decision' Rule Hinted In Giardello Bout

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Middleweight Joey Giardello's anguished howl of protest at ringside after dropping a 10-round split decision to Wilie Vaughn Wednesday night drew more attention than their dull bout.

Giardello did not go unseen, or unheard. A national television audience caught part of his act, after which two members of the Missouri Athletic Commission said a "no decision" would be declared today.

Involved was a newly adopted but not previously announced Missouri scoring system. Giardello and his seconds challenged Referee Ray Sissom's card, which scored 52 points for Vaughn, 48 Giardello.

A check disclosed Sissom had not followed the National Boxing Assn. "5-point-must" scoring system, adopted by Missouri and had, instead, scored five rounds of the fight under the old rule. It awarded up to 10 points per round.

Under the "5-point-must" system, no one fighter in any round can be given more than a maximum of 5 points. The loser can be awarded four or less. An even round is scored 5-all.

On his scorecard Sissom gave the winner of the second, fifth, sixth, seventh and ninth rounds six points instead of five. It was these rounds Giardello protested.

As a result of Giardello's challenge, the referee's card was officially changed to read 47-45 in Vaughn's favor.

Judge Frank Brown scored the fight 47-45 for Vaughn and judge L. D. Robbins gave it to Giardello 47-41. The Associated Press score card had it 48-45 for Vaughn.

Cleveland Browns Set Up Schedule

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns and Los Angeles Rams will meet here Nov. 24 for the first time since 1952, when the Browns won a 37-7 decision.

Other games on the Browns' 1957 home schedule announced Wednesday are with teams in the National Football League's eastern division. They are: New York Giants, Sept. 29; Philadelphia Eagles, Oct. 13; Washington Redskins, Nov. 3; Pittsburgh Steelers, Nov. 10, and Chicago Cardinals, Dec. 1.

Indians Seeking Third Baseman

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Like some other managers in the American League, Kerby Farrell of the Cleveland Indians is looking for a third baseman.

Rookie Billy Harrell has been used extensively during the exhibition season but his performance apparently hasn't satisfied Farrell. Bobby Avila also got a chance, but was not impressive.

Latest and most logical candidate is centerfielder Al Smith. He has had some experience at third and there are two replacements available for center—Jim Busby and Bob Usher.

Greenfield Athlete Declines Academy

Raymond Purdin, 20, former Greenfield McClain High School athletic star, has declined an appointment to the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, N. Y.

The McClain ace, well remembered here for his performances against Circleville High School athletic squads, announced that he will enroll at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., instead of entering the military academy.

He starred in football, basketball and track at McClain and received all-Ohio gridiron mention.

150 Golfers Enter Azalea Open Test

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—Burly Mike Souchak, the defending champion, and five of the eight former winners, led a field of more than 150 which opened play today in the $12,500 Azalea Open Golf tourney.

Souchak, of Grossingers, N. Y., and the other pros on the winter tour will shoot for the $1,700 first prize in the PGA tournament over the 6,825-yard Cape Fear Country Club course.

For many of the top pros this will be a tuneup for the Masters Tournament next weekend.

Same Old Trouble Plagues Redlegs

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—An old and generally anticipated trouble has begun to plague Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs. It's the pitching, or rather the lack of it. Redleg hurlers took another cuffing around Wednesday as the Milwaukee Braves won a 12-6 decision.

Today the Reds were to go to Clearwater to meet the Philadelphia Phils. Tebbetts named Joe Nuxhall as his starting pitcher.

Darkhorses Shining In AAU Tourney

DENVER (AP) — Six of eight seeded teams survive to enter the quarterfinal round of the 50th National AAU Basketball Tournament tonight, but the darlings of the tourney are darkhorses who could go all the way.

Overlooked in pre-meet reckoning, the Army All-Stars wrecked a good Akron, Ohio, team in the second round finale Wednesday night, 86-66.

The other darkhorse outfit is Lake Charles, La., which staved off third-seeded Denver's late bid for a 73-72 win Wednesday.

The surviving seeded entries avoided the upset pattern of the week-long tourney, which ends Saturday night.

Defending champion Seattle Bakers, with five players scoring in double figures, eliminated Milford, Conn., 79-66, and sky-scraping Wichita blasted the disorganized Navy All-Stars, 102-69.

The Air Force's Olympic duo of Dick Boushka and Ron Tomsic fashioned an impressive 100-76 win over Joliet, Ill., and Bartlesville veterans won easily for a collection of Skyline Conference players representing Ogden, Utah, 96-69. San Francisco's rangy Olympic club showed class in disposing of former All-America Don Schlundt and his Brownstown, Ind., teammates, 82-66.

'Umass' President To Stress Sports

BOSTON (AP) — A program to build up sports at the University of Massachusetts was led today by its young president who thinks too many colleges throughout the country have "overemphasized deemphasis of athletics."

"Athletics have been given a black eye in relation to their part in education," Dr. J. Paul Mather, 41, said Wednesday night in announcing "re-emphasizing" of athletics at the university.

Mather said that Umass plans to "carry out a program of re-emphasis, not de - emphasis" and will make an all-out effort to recruit top schoolboy athletes within the state through grants-in-aid.

Bill Is Offered On Baseball Pacts

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Players signing pro baseball contracts would have their rights spelled out for them with court supervision under provisions of a bill in the state House of Representatives.

"Too many young athletes dreaming of great things in baseball sign their future away for peanuts," said Rep. Ralph H. Young (R-East Lansing).

The bill, referred to the House Judiciary Committee, would require that pro baseball contracts entered into for minors would have to be approved by a circuit court before the contract could become effective.

Braves Show Redlegs Their Potent Power

Milwaukee Pitching Is Good As Haney's Crew Wins By 12-6

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Manager Fred Haney has said all along that if his pitchers and hitters ever decide to get together the Milwaukee Braves will be mighty tough to beat for the National League pennant.

They missed by only a game last year after frittering away a solid lead in the closing weeks.

And at the start of this season's exhibition games it appeared as if they were up to their old tricks. But they suddenly caught fire and won six of their last eight games.

Wednesday they combined the ingredients that make a pennant contender as they beat the Cincinnati Redlegs 12-6. Warren Spahn allowed only six hits, one of them a homer by Bob Thurman, in seven innings.

The Milwaukee hitters backed up his southpaw slants with 14 hits, including two homers by Joe Adcock — one a grand-slammer and another by Hank Aaron.

Smoky Burgess hit a grand slam homer for Cinci in the ninth off Gene Conley.

The Braves were not the only ones who got good pitching.

The Detroit Tigers got a three-hit job from Frank Lary and Jim Bunning as they mauled the Brooklyn Dodgers 18-1. Al Kaline hit two home runs and Charley Maxwell, Frank House and Reno Bertoia one each in the 20-hit assault on Sal Maglie, Ken Lehman and Clem Labine.

Johnny Kucks held the St. Louis Cardinals to four hits as he went the route for the Yankees. But the world champions dropped a 1-0 decision to the St. Louis Cardinals for their second setback by the same score in as many games. A double by Del Ennis and a triple by Hobie Landrith in the second provided enough working margin for Herm Wehmeier and Larry Jackson.

With Bob Lemon hurling the first five innings rookie Stan Pitula the next three and relief expert Don Mossi the final frame, the Cleveland Indians stopped the slugging Chicago Cubs 6-0.

Elsewhere, the New York Giants chalked up their third straight victory and their eighth in the last nine games with a 5-2 decision over the Boston Red Sox. The Chicago White Sox exploded for eight runs in the third inning and a 9-4 victory over Washington with Minnie Minoso getting three hits and Larry Doby and Dick Donovan one homer each. Alex Kellner walked Ed Bouchee home in the 10th inning with the run that gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 4-3 triumph over Kansas City.

2 New Teams Get High ABC Ranking

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A pair of new teams climbed close behind the Peter Hand Reserve Beer which holds the open division lead in the American Bowling Congress tournament.

The St. Louis Budweisers, national match game champions, fired a 3,077 in their initial team appearance to move into second place. Peter Hand, of Chicago, leads the division with 3,126.

Fertel Jewelers of Akron, Ohio, climbed into third place in the open team standings with 3,061. The Ohio squad rolled games of 936, 1,068 and 1,057.

The Budweisers posted games of 958, 1,058 and 1,061.

First baseman-outfielder Roy Sievers set a Washington record when he hit 29 home runs for the Senators.

SPORTS

Training Camp Briefs

By The Associated Press

ORLANDO, Fla., (AP) — Chuck Comiskey, Chicago White Sox vice president, and Calvin Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, had a tete-a-tete Wednesday but no mention was made of any deals.

The Sox have been trying to get catcher Clint Courtney, but have definitely turned thumbs down on trading Minnie Minoso to do so. Now, the Senators supposedly want to get a couple of young pitchers in the event they decide to let go of Courtney.

LAKELAND, Fla., (AP) — Manager Jack Tighe of the Detroit Tigers says he's satisfied with the way Ray Boone is working out in the switch from third to first base.

"I'm perfectly satisfied with Boone's play," Tighe said. "I'll move him back to third only if we can't find somebody else to play there adequately. I have a feeling that Jim Finigan will qualify. Right now, he is troubled by a bad leg."

ORLANDO, Fla., (AP) — The Dodgers' Duke Snider is having his difficulties at the plate this spring. The Brooklyn star outfielder is batting a paltry .125 with four hits in 32 trips.

He played nine innings for the first time Wednesday, and failed to get the ball out of the infield in four at bats against Detroit.

BRADENTON, Fla., (AP) — Milwaukee Braves first baseman Joe Adcock says a sore shoulder "may help me become a better hitter this year."

Adcock, who hit .291 last year, belted two home runs — one of them a grand slammer — as the Braves humbled the Cincinnati Redlegs 12-6 Wednesday.

"I've been striking out too much in the past and I think my big trouble has been swinging too hard. The shoulder injury is helping me to slow down the swing," he explained.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., (AP) — Herm Wehmeier, the St. Louis Cardinals' best pitcher down the stretch last year, has limited the New York Yankees to only one run in 15 innings this spring.

This puts the 205-pound right-hander in line for the opening day pitching assignment for the Redbirds. Manager Fred Hutchinson said Wednesday the opening pitcher would be either Wehmeier, with his sparkling 1.45 grapefruit league earned run average, or Sad Sam Jones, a shut out pitcher for seven innings earlier in the week.

MESA, Ariz., (AP) — The Chicago Cubs have trimmed their roster to 34, shipping two players to the Portland farm club and earmarking another for minor league duty at a spot to be determined later.

Vice President John Holland announced that infield Eddie McKee and right-hander Bobby Thorpe have been assigned to the Portland club. McKee played for Des Moines last year.

Dave Stenhouse, a right-hander, will remain at Mesa for the time being but will be assigned later, Holland said. Stenhouse had a 16-4 record with Lafayette. He didn't pitch an inning for the Cubs this spring.

'No Decision' Rule Hinted In Giardello Bout

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Middleweight Joey Giardello's anguished howl of protest at ringside after dropping a 10-round split decision to Wilie Vaughn Wednesday night drew more attention than their dull bout.

Giardello did not go unseen, or unheard. A national television audience caught part of his act, after which two members of the Missouri Athletic Commission said a "no decision" would be declared today.

Involved was a newly adopted but not previously announced Missouri scoring system. Giardello and his seconds challenged Referee Ray Sissom's card, which scored 52 points for Vaughn, 48 Giardello.

A check disclosed Sissom had not followed the National Boxing Assn. "5-point-must" scoring system, adopted by Missouri and had, instead, scored five rounds of the fight under the old rule. It awarded up to 10 points per round.

Under the "5-point-must" system, no one fighter in any round can be given more than a maximum of 5 points. The loser can be awarded four or less. An even round is scored 5-all.

On his scorecard Sissom gave the winner of the second, fifth, sixth, seventh and ninth rounds six points instead of five. It was these rounds Giardello protested.

As a result of Giardello's challenge, the referee's card was officially changed to read 47-45 in Vaughn's favor.

Judge Frank Brown scored the fight 47-45 for Vaughn and judge L. D. Robbins gave it to Giardello 47-41. The Associated Press score card had it 48-45 for Vaughn.

Cleveland Browns Set Up Schedule

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns and Los Angeles Rams will meet here Nov. 24 for the first time since 1952, when the Browns won a 37-7 decision.

Other games on the Browns' 1957 home schedule announced Wednesday are with teams in the National Football League's eastern division. They are: New York Giants, Sept. 29; Philadelphia Eagles, Oct. 13; Washington Redskins, Nov. 3; Pittsburgh Steelers, Nov. 10, and Chicago Cardinals, Dec. 1.

Indians Seeking Third Baseman

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Like some other managers in the American League, Kerby Farrell of the Cleveland Indians is looking for a third baseman.

Rookie Billy Harrell has been used extensively during the exhibition season but his performance apparently hasn't satisfied Farrell. Bobby Avila also got a chance, but was not impressive.

Latest and most logical candidate is centerfielder Al Smith. He has had some experience at third and there are two replacements available for center—Jim Busby and Bob Usher.

Greenfield Athlete Declines Academy

Raymond Purdin, 20, former Greenfield McClain High School athletic star, has declined an appointment to the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, N. Y.

The McClain ace, well remembered here for his performances against Circleville High School athletic squads, announced that he will enroll at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., instead of entering the military academy.

Bruce Stevenson Raps Closed-Mind 'Saucer' Unbelievers As 'Crackpots'

Bruce Stevenson, a prominent Pickaway County farmer who is able to claim one of the world's most impressive "flying saucer" sightings, today had taken a good-natured jab at closed-mind skeptics of the airborne discs.

He denounced as "crackpots" those public spokesmen who brush aside any and all "flying saucer" versions without weighing each report on its merits. His remark was prompted by a recent news dispatch telling how the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics in Washington had announced "there is no such thing as a flying saucer."

The committee is the federal government's official research agency in dealing with the problems which scientists anticipate will face space travelers—at some future date. Similar agencies and public officials have "talked down" the "flying saucer" theories from time to time through recent years.

Although Stevenson claims to have had one of the closest range views of a "saucer" on record, his experience drew little better than a yawn from "saucer" researchers at Wright - Patterson Air Force Base.

* * *

AT STEVENSON'S request, a short summary of his experience was mailed by The Herald to the big research base near Dayton. But in return came only a short, form notice of acknowledgment and thanks. No request for details.

Since that time, however, "flying saucer" fans—ranging from highly rated researchers to obvious dreamers—have visited Stevenson at his farm a short distance west of Circleville. In turn he has also been invited to attend regional meetings of those who make a hobby of studying the "saucer" phenonmena.

At some of these gatherings, Stevenson chuckles, he meets those "who go too far—those who just make a joke out of the whole thing."

BRUCE STEVENSON, shown on his farm a short distance west of Circleville, points to the area where he first saw a "flying saucer" gliding over his tool barn on a wintry, moonlit night in February 1948. Stevenson, a highly successful farmer deeply respected for his personal integrity, recently denounced as "crackpots" those public spokesmen who scoff at the "saucer" reports without making a serious effort to study their validity.

Perhaps, he is willing to concede, they fall within the "crackpot" category on the side of the faithful "believers". But in his opinion they are no worse than the scoffers who refuse to accept verified "saucer" reports merely because they cannot understand how such discs can exist.

After keeping his own story within his circle of friends and relatives for several years— "because nobody in those days seemed to consider the saucers anything but jokes"—Stevenson revealed full details of his experience to The Herald in the Fall of 1952. His story led to widespread discussion here on the subject of "saucers", and also attracted a fair amount of good-natured "razzing."

One of the strongest points for those who proclaim the accuracy of Stevenson's account is the manner in which he turns aside the constant jesting without resentment—although he feels so deeply on the subject that he still offers to "swear on the Bible that I saw what I say I did." As for the good - natured ribbers, Stevenson grins:

* * *

"SURE, THEY never let up on me. But I don't mind them. Somehow or other I feel this way: they can believe whatever they want to believe, and I know what I saw on my farm that night."

"That night" happened to be a bitterly cold one in February 1948.

Glancing out a window while taking a drink of water about 2 a. m., Stevenson noted a bright glow all over the vicinity of his farm buildings and hurried outside expecting to find them afire. Instead, he relates, he saw a large "flying saucer" gliding very slowly over his hog house and tool barn.

"It was so close to the roof of the tool house," Stevenson said, "that I was afraid it was going to knock off the forge flue. From where I watched it, it moved without a sound along the roof of the tool house, I'd say I was only about 100 feet from it. (See picture)

"The moon was very bright and the ground was covered with snow, making it seem all the brighter."

(Standing in The Herald's front office recently and recalling his memorable night, Stevenson said it seemed as though the "saucer" was only about as far away as the balcony on the Elks building directly across Court St.)

* * *

STEVENSON has told his story many times over since he first unfolded it for the public in The Herald. He says he remembers very clearly how:

(a) The strange disc maintained its very slow speed and low altitude until it faded from sight far off to the farmer's left, while Stevenson stood in frank amazement, too startled in the brief interval to run and awaken other members of the household.

(b) The dazzling orange-amber glow which originally attracted his attention was suddenly reduced to a "dull amber glow" inside the "dome" of the "saucer", just a moment after he came outside and began watching the eerie visitor.

(c) The whole object was shaped much like a broad dinner plate turned upside down, with a deep sauce dish or cup —also inverted—as its "dome".

(d) The "dome" was of "something that looked like plexiglas and the broad edge—which was pretty wide—was of shiny silver, blinking or flashing all around the edge as though a silent propellor or something was whirling."

(e) The diameter of the base of the "saucer" looked about 60 feet; the "silver" edge about 12 feet wide, and the "dome" about eight feet high, rising "pretty steep from the shiny silver part".

(f) The position of the "saucer" did not permit a view of the under-section.

(g) A wide silvery brim section had "little holes of some kind" along the edge.

* * *

AND LASTLY, how, within a mile or two of the Stevenson farm, there have been apparently authentic reports of "saucers" or "strange lights in the sky" at least twice since Stevenson had the experience "I'll never forget as long as I live."

The skeptics? Let the rank and file have their fun, Stevenson smiles.

"I know how they like to joke about saucers. But these other fellows, (public spokesmen on the subject) like that fellow down in Washington — they're the real crackpots. And they better begin to stop and think."

New Measure Fixes State's Education Pay

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Senate Education Committee has finished its work on a bill fixing the mechanics of how state money shall be distributed to needy school districts for classroom construction.

The committee recommended passage of a bill setting up a procedure by which needy districts can share in the classroom construction fund to be furnished by the 150 million dollar bond issue approved two years ago by Ohio voters.

No one knows right now how big the classroom fund will be, but Ohio Education Assn. sources estimate it may be in the vicinity of 35 to 40 million dollars.

Here is how the lease-or-purchase arrangement would apply to needy districts:

1. The district would be required to vote its own bonds for school construction up to the legal limit of 9 per cent of its tax duplicate.

2. The district would be required to vote, 55 per cent of its electors concurring at the polls, a guarantee that it would tax itself at least 4 mills over a 30-year period, if needed, to pay off its own school building debt and whatever aid it receives from the state.

3. The district also would be required to vote a special levy of one-fourth of one mill which would be earmarked for repayment of the state aid in building costs.

The bill also sets up a rotary fund for future building needs in needy districts. Money repaid from initial loans from the bond issue fund would be used over and over again to meet future needs.

"SURE, THEY never let up on me. But I don't mind them. Somehow or other I feel this way: they can believe whatever they want to believe, and I know what I saw on my farm that night."

"That night" happened to be a bitterly cold one in February 1948.

Glancing out a window while taking a drink of water about 2 a. m., Stevenson noted a bright glow all over the vicinity of his farm buildings and hurried outside expecting to find them afire. Instead, he relates, he saw a large "flying saucer" gliding very slowly over his hog house and tool barn.

"It was so close to the roof of the tool house," Stevenson said, "that I was afraid it was going to knock off the forge flue. From where I watched it, it moved without a sound along the roof of the tool house, I'd say I was only about 100 feet from it. (See picture)

"The moon was very bright and the ground was covered with snow, making it seem all the brighter."

(Standing in The Herald's front office recently and recalling his memorable night, Stevenson said it seemed as though the "saucer" was only about as far away as the balcony on the Elks building directly across Court St.)

* * *

STEVENSON has told his story many times over since he first unfolded it for the public in The Herald. He says he remembers very clearly how:

(a) The strange disc maintained its very slow speed and low altitude until it faded from sight far off to the farmer's left, while Stevenson stood in frank amazement, too startled in the brief interval to run and awaken other members of the household.

(b) The dazzling orange-amber glow which originally attracted his attention was suddenly reduced to a "dull amber glow" inside the "dome" of the "saucer", just a moment after he came outside and began watching the eerie visitor.

(c) The whole object was shaped much like a broad dinner plate turned upside down, with a deep sauce dish or cup —also inverted—as its "dome".

(d) The "dome" was of "something that looked like plexiglas and the broad edge—which was pretty wide—was of shiny silver, blinking or flashing all around the edge as though a silent propellor or something was whirling."

(e) The diameter of the base of the "saucer" looked about 60 feet; the "silver" edge about 12 feet wide, and the "dome" about eight feet high, rising "pretty steep from the shiny silver part".

(f) The position of the "saucer" did not permit a view of the under-section.

(g) A wide silvery brim section had "little holes of some kind" along the edge.

* * *

AND LASTLY, how, within a mile or two of the Stevenson farm, there have been apparently authentic reports of "saucers" or "strange lights in the sky" at least twice since Stevenson had the experience "I'll never forget as long as I live."

The skeptics? Let the rank and file have their fun, Stevenson smiles.

"I know how they like to joke about saucers. But these other fellows, (public spokesmen on the subject) like that fellow down in Washington — they're the real crackpots. And they better begin to stop and think."

New Measure Fixes State's Education Pay

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Senate Education Committee has finished its work on a bill fixing the mechanics of how state money shall be distributed to needy school districts for classroom construction.

The committee recommended passage of a bill setting up a procedure by which needy districts can share in the classroom construction fund to be furnished by the 150 million dollar bond issue approved two years ago by Ohio voters.

No one knows right now how big the classroom fund will be, but Ohio Education Assn. sources estimate it may be in the vicinity of 35 to 40 million dollars.

Here is how the lease-or-purchase arrangement would apply to needy districts:

1. The district would be required to vote its own bonds for school construction up to the legal limit of 9 per cent of its tax duplicate.

2. The district would be required to vote, 55 per cent of its electors concurring at the polls, a guarantee that it would tax itself at least 4 mills over a 30-year period, if needed, to pay off its own school building debt and whatever aid it receives from the state.

3. The district also would be required to vote a special levy of one-fourth of one mill which would be earmarked for repayment of the state aid in building costs.

The bill also sets up a rotary fund for future building needs in needy districts. Money repaid from initial loans from the bond issue fund would be used over and over again to meet future needs.
